THIRD 727 MISHAP IN 87 DAYS . . .

Tentative Salt Lake Jet Crash Toll Is 41

Salt Lake City (UPI) — A United Air Lines 727 jet with 89 persons aboard crashed and burned Thursday night while landing at Salt Lake Municipal Airport. Local officials set a tentative death toll of 41.

County authorities said 48 of the plane's passengers and crew members were tentatively accounted for at local hospitals. This left 41 presumed dead.

Sheriff's deputies reported the inside of the burned plane "was full of bodies." They were badly burned and mutilated.

"They were just skeletons strapped into seats. The flesh was completely burned off," one city fireman said.

The plane, en route from New York to San Francisco with four intermediate stops, —Cleveland, Chicago, Denver and Salt Lake City—carried 83 passengers and a crew of 6.

It was the third crash of a Boeing 727 in the past 87 days.

Earlier this week, an American Airlines Boeing 727 crashed near Cincinnati, Ohio, killing 58 persons. The first 727 crash occurred last Aug. 16 when a United jet plunged into Lake Michigan, killing 30 persons.

Several persons survived the crash. One Salt Lake City hospital reported it received eight injured passengers and crew members—some of them hurt critically.

Mrs. Lyndon Day of Arlington, Va., one of the passengers who survived, described the crash:

"It was like a crash landing. There was a large thump, and then we were engulfed in flames."

Officials at the airport said it was too early to determine the cause of the crash, but that it could have been a collapsing landing gear.

A UPI reporter said the front landing gear was up, although the rear landing gear was down in its landing position.

Rear Looks Worst

The worst damage appeared to be in the rear of the plane, near where the jets are attached. The aircraft was nearly burned through—almost splitting the plane into two sections.

Fire crews began tearing apart the rear of the aircraft to remove the bodies, which were taken to a temporary morgue set up at a Salt Lake mortuary

An FBI disaster team was called to help in identifying the victims.

The three-jet craft came to a halt off the east side of the airport's main north-south runway One engine was ripped off. It was lying 100 yards away from the flaming craft.

No one apparently got out of the plane without some type of injury. The survivors were rushed to hospitals by police cars, private vehicles, airport limousines and Air National Guard vehicles.

Whites Snip Tie To Britain

. . . REACTION HARSH

Salisbury, Rhodesia (AP)—Rhodesia's white-minority government, acting on its own, declared its independence Thursday and swiftly ran into a buzzsaw of British wrath and international censure.

Britain in effect outlawed the independent regime, but African leaders at the United Nations served notice this was not enough.

South Africa Claps

One of Rhodesia's neighbors, South Africa, applauded the whites' action, but another, black-ruled Zambia, took the opposite tack. Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda charged that white Rhodesian troops were building up along the frontier and said Zambia will meet force with force if necessary. He declared a state of emergency.

Prodded by the Africans, the 117-nation U.N. General Assembly by a vote of 107-2 quickly condemned the declaration of independence and asked Britain to move immediately to quell "the rebellion."

In Johannesburg, South Africa's Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, whose regime is also based on white supremacy, said he would not take part in any boycott movements against the government of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Paton Predicts

One of South Africa's best known opponents of race segregation, author-playwright Alan Paton, predicted "increased use of banishment and bannings" in Rhodesia as a result of Smith's "tragic decision."

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk denounced the independence declaration and ordered recall of the top U.S. diplomat and two U.S. information officers in Rhodesia.

Prime Minister Ian Smith's proclamation cutting ties with the mother country echoed phrases of the U.S. Declaration of Independence. It was the first unilateral split away from the British since the American colonists broke with King George III in 1776.

The breakdown that led to the Rhodesian declaration stemmed from the white regime's refusal to meet British demands for insuring the possibility of eventual rule by the colony's black majority.

Issue To U.N.

Britain reacted sternly, imposing an economic boycott designed to hit Rhodesia's economy, and taking the issue to the United Nations.

At Prime Minister Harold Wilson's orders, British Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs suspended Smith and all his ministers for "an unconstitutional act of independence." But by his own declaration, Smith swept aside the governor's authority.

Reaction was harsh, particularly in black Africa, where Rhodesia's white government is anathema.

Rhodesia faced diplomatic isolation from many countries Norway and Sweden blackballed the regime. Inside the Commonwealth, Canada, New Zealand and India denied it recognition.

Wilson Scornful

In a report to his House of Commons, Wilson noted scornfully that the Rhodesian declaration, "borrowed, for the purposes of small and frightened men, words of one of the historic documents of human freedom"—the American Declaration of Independence.

Wilson said the Rhodesians had even appropriated one whole phrase from the American Declaration—"a respect for the opinions of mankind."

Smith went on radio to tell the 225,000 white Rhodesians —and any of the 3.8 million Africans who might be listening — of the declaration. He said:

"We have struck a blow for the preservation of justice, civilization and Christianity, and in the spirit of this belief we have this day assumed our sovereign independence. God bless you all."

No Festivities

There was little indication in Salisbury that the population had grasped the significance of Smith's act. There was no festive atmosphere, few flags and no bands.

Many colonies have left London's fold, but always after negotiation and agreement. The U.S. and Rhodesian actions are the only exceptions.

Even so, Rhodesia went through the motions of trying to retrain some ties with the British crown. The text of a new constitution published Thursday night provides that Queen Elizabeth II may appoint a governor-general. But if none is appointed within 14 days, Rhodesia will appoint a regent.

In addition, Smith declared, Rhodesians will stand "second to none in our loyalty to the queen," the Union Jack will still fly and the British national anthem will be sung.

Oath To Queen

The new constitution also stipulates, among other points:

Members of parliament will continue to take the oath of loyalty to the queen. The present 65-member parliament will continue. There is no appeal to the British Privy Council in London as before, but appeals to the appellate division of Rhodesia's high court are final.

In London, Wilson told Commons Smith's act was "a rebellion against the crown" and the British governmen will have no dealings with the Rhodesian regime. Britian' allies were being asked to follow the same course.

Motorists Face Insurance Hike

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Insurance rate increases for Nebraska motorists because of continued, substantial rising costs of traffic accidents were announced Thursday by two national rating organizations.

The new premium schedules go into effect immediately, but will not affect existing policies until renewal.

The Natonal Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, which computes liability insurance rates for its affiliated companies, said the increase would average 16.7% on passenger cars, or $6.27 more per year on basic coverage.

The National Automobile Underwriters Association, responsible for auto physical damage rates for its affiliates, reported increases on passenger cars of 10.9% on the average, or $4.38 more for comprehensive coverage and $6.43 for $100 deductible.

The new rates have been reviewed and approved by the Nebraska Department of Insurance.

Insurance Director Frank Barrett noted that Nebraska "will continue to have some of the lowest automobile insurance rates in the U.S. despite the increase."

He said a substantial number of companies doing business in Nebraska are members of the two rating groups, adding that some nonaffiliated companies increased their rates earlier.

The actual amount of premium change for each individual motorist depends upon where he lives, type of car he drives, its principle uses, the motorist's driving record, his age, sex and marital status, whether he's had driver education, and other factors.

However, these broad comparisons in premium increases by locality were reported:

—Liability coverage for adult with good driving record, using his car for pleasure and carrying the "basic" limits: $9 more in Omaha, $1 in Lancaster County (includes Lincoln), and $5 remainder of state.

—Comprehensive (fire, theft flood, etc): $3 increase in Omaha and Lancaster County, $5-$6 rest of rate.

—Collision with $50 deductible: $7 more in Omaha, $4 in Lancaster County and $3 rest of state.

Roommate And Girl Friend Say Pope Likable, Retiring

By BOB SCHREPF
Staf Staff Writer

Duane Pope's college roommate and a former steady girl friend Thursday pictured the accused Kansan as a likeable but retiring youth who had an "obsession with Caterpillar tractors."

They were among 14 additional witnesses called by defense attorneys Robert Crosby and Wallace Rudolph during the second week of the trial for Pope's life. He is charged with a bank robbery and triple slaying in Big Springs June 4.

The defense contends that testimony will show Pope to have been an acutely bashful person who never lost his temper, industrious, and a youth who followed instructions to the letter.

'Covered Up'

And they have said further psychiatric testimony will prove that this outward appearance covered up a schizoid personality unable to express hostility and that Pope's pent-up aggressions exploded into the "nightmare of conduct at Big Springs."

The obsession with heavy machinery, the defense argues, is symptomatic of a schizoid, a personality type that is preoccupied with inanimate objects and is unable to form close human relationships.

"He started right off talking about his tractors in most of the letters he wrote me," said Ramona Lowe, presently a floral designer in Wichita, who dated Pope steadily for several months in 1963-64.

Pope's interest in heavy machinery was an obsession, Miss Lowe declared.

Hard To Talk To

The attractive brunette told Federal District Court jurors, "I still have a lot of feeling for him." She pictured Pope as "quiet, shy and hard to talk to."

Nick Petrucci, the defendant's roommate at McPherson (Kan.) College for 3½ years and now a teacher of mentally retarded children at Wilmerding, Pa., testified that "Caterpillar tractors were all he ever thought about."

Pope had two tractors at his parent's farm in Roxbury, Kan., Petrucci said, and when the two roommates would visit the farm on weekends "Duane would always be working on his tractors."

Wanted Lowboy

"He was always talking about them, and thinking of ways to get enough money to buy a lowboy to transport them," Petrucci related. He said Pope called one of the tractors "Tomcat One" and the other "Tomcat Two."

Petrucci told the jury that Pope is "the best friend I'll ever have in the world. I didn't know anyone that didn't like Duane, he never gave any one a reason to dislike him."

Petrucci, co-captain of the McPherson football team with Pope, said of Pope's ability on the field: "He might have been a little more aggressive but nobody got the best of him. . . he could really bust you."

Length of Pipe

Petrucci told of seeing a length of pipe with holes bored in it in their dormitory room during the last week of school this spring.

When asked about it, Pope replied that it was a device to "help the oil flow in the oil pump of my tractor."

Evidence submitted earlier in the trial indicated that the pipe was part of a homemade silencer which was attached to the pistol used to shoot the bank employes.

In an apparent defense move designed to remove debt as a possible motive for the holdup, a McPherson bank officer testified that Pope handled his finances "extremely well."

Officers of two McPherson banks said that Pope had taken out several loans during his college years and had paid some off before they were due. Of the notes left outstanding, none were due at the time of the early June robbery, they said.

R. Gordon Yoder, McPherson College business manager, said Pope had taken out $1,275—"not an unusually high amount—in National Defense Act loans for tuition over a 3-year period.

Due In '67

Yoder said the first payment on the total is due in 1967, with the balance to be paid over the next nine years.

Witnesses testified that Pope worked for his board and room by cleaning classrooms and dormitories and supplemented his income by working nights at a service station his junior year.

Parents Are Trekking To School For Check On Children's Grades

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Parents will be trekking to school Friday instead of their kids.

And the subject up for study is to be those children getting a day of vacation.

Parent-teacher conferences in the elementary schools are not new to Lincoln, but releasing teachers from instructional duties one day each quarter in order to bring parents up to date on their students' progress is being tried for the first time Friday.

While individual conferences give mothers and fathers a chance to hear an oral report of grades and development, it also provides teachers with an opportunity to learn about a child's background, home environment and activities outside school.

"We feel both parents and teachers can profit," Dr. Rudy Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, explained. "We believe that the parent-teacher conference is the best way to provide communication between the home and the school."

Conferences are not limited to Friday, and several parents met with teachers Thursday night. Others will arrange for appointments before and after school hours next week. Conference days with a vacation for elementary students have also been planned after the second and third quarters

Some schools have been getting "as high as 95% of the parents to come for a conference," according to Fredstrom, pointing out that the oral reporting has been held in Lincoln for more than 15 years.

At some city schools the teachers and principals decided to include students in the report sessions, although a portion of the conference is reserved for parents and teachers only.

The 15-minute meetings are handled according to the individual teacher's preferences, Fredstrom said, with parents able to view, not only reports and evaluations, but also examples of classwork and tests.

More Men To Go To South Viet Nam

Johnson City, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson Thursday authorized the sending of additional U.S. troops to fight in South Viet Nam and sternly criticized Rhodesia's declaration of independence from Britain

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Johnson instructed him to meet the requests of U.S. commanders in Viet Nam for additional personnel.

McNamara did not estimate how many more troops would be sent to augment the 160,000 already there, saying this country does not want to tip off the communists in advance as to what forces they would face in the future.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced that the President instructed him to bring home diplomatic personnel from Rhodesia, and to keep in close touch with the British government which is planning a program of economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

McNamara said the South Vietnamese, with the help of American forces, had defeated a communist monsoon offensive and inflicted heavy casualties.

He said the Viet Cong had hoped to split South Viet Nam at its middle and dismember and maul the South Vietnamese. In this the Viet Cong had been defeated and paid a high price in casualties, McNamara said.

McNamara said some requests for additional forces in South Viet Nam already have been approved, and he anticipated that other requests will be forthcoming soon.

McNamara said there are no plans now to call up Reserve or National Guard units, but he said the regular forces will be increased through the draft and volunteers.

McNamara also announced that there will be additional closings of obsolete and unneeded military installations in the months ahead. He estimated this would save about $500 million annually.

Roommate And Girl Friend Say Pope Likable, Retiring

By BOB SCHREPF
Staf Staff Writer

Duane Pope's college roommate and a former steady girl friend Thursday pictured the accused Kansan as a likeable but retiring youth who had an "obsession with Caterpillar tractors."

They were among 14 additional witnesses called by defense attorneys Robert Crosby and Wallace Rudolph during the second week of the trial for Pope's life. He is charged with a bank robbery and triple slaying in Big Springs June 4.

The defense contends that testimony will show Pope to have been an acutely bashful person who never lost his temper, industrious, and a youth who followed instructions to the letter.

'Covered Up'

And they have said further psychiatric testimony will prove that this outward appearance covered up a schizoid personality unable to express hostility and that Pope's pent-up aggressions exploded into the "nightmare of conduct at Big Springs."

The obsession with heavy machinery, the defense argues, is symptomatic of a schizoid, a personality type that is preoccupied with inanimate objects and is unable to form close human relationships.

"He started right off talking about his tractors in most of the letters he wrote me," said Ramona Lowe, presently a floral designer in Wichita, who dated Pope steadily for several months in 1963-64.

Pope's interest in heavy machinery was an obsession, Miss Lowe declared.

Hard To Talk To

The attractive brunette told Federal District Court jurors, "I still have a lot of feeling for him." She pictured Pope as "quiet, shy and hard to talk to."

Nick Petrucci, the defendant's roommate at McPherson (Kan.) College for 3½ years and now a teacher of mentally retarded children at Wilmerding, Pa., testified that "Caterpillar tractors were all he ever thought about."

Pope had two tractors at his parent's farm in Roxbury, Kan., Petrucci said, and when the two roommates would visit the farm on weekends "Duane would always be working on his tractors."

Wanted Lowboy

"He was always talking about them, and thinking of ways to get enough money to buy a lowboy to transport them," Petrucci related. He said Pope called one of the tractors "Tomcat One" and the other "Tomcat Two."

Petrucci told the jury that Pope is "the best friend I'll ever have in the world. I didn't know anyone that didn't like Duane, he never gave any one a reason to dislike him."

Petrucci, co-captain of the McPherson football team with Pope, said of Pope's ability on the field: "He might have been a little more aggressive but nobody got the best of him. . . he could really bust you."

Length of Pipe

Petrucci told of seeing a length of pipe with holes bored in it in their dormitory room during the last week of school this spring.

When asked about it, Pope replied that it was a device to "help the oil flow in the oil pump of my tractor."

Evidence submitted earlier in the trial indicated that the pipe was part of a homemade silencer which was attached to the pistol used to shoot the bank employes.

In an apparent defense move designed to remove debt as a possible motive for the holdup, a McPherson bank officer testified that Pope handled his finances "extremely well."

Officers of two McPherson banks said that Pope had taken out several loans during his college years and had paid some off before they were due. Of the notes left outstanding, none were due at the time of the early June robbery, they said.

R. Gordon Yoder, McPherson College business manager, said Pope had taken out $1,275—"not an unusually high amount—in National Defense Act loans for tuition over a 3-year period.

Due In '67

Yoder said the first payment on the total is due in 1967, with the balance to be paid over the next nine years.

Witnesses testified that Pope worked for his board and room by cleaning classrooms and dormitories and supplemented his income by working nights at a service station his junior year.

PERSHING SCHOOL . . . conference between second grade teacher Mrs. Florence Dalby and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell and their daughter, Lynette. (Star Photo.)

Parents Are Trekking To School For Check On Children's Grades

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Parents will be trekking to school Friday instead of their kids.

And the subject up for study is to be those children getting a day of vacation.

Parent-teacher conferences in the elementary schools are not new to Lincoln, but releasing teachers from instructional duties one day each quarter in order to bring parents up to date on their students' progress is being tried for the first time Friday.

While individual conferences give mothers and fathers a chance to hear an oral report of grades and development, it also provides teachers with an opportunity to learn about a child's background, home environment and activities outside school.

"We feel both parents and teachers can profit," Dr. Rudy Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, explained. "We believe that the parent-teacher conference is the best way to provide communication between the home and the school."

Conferences are not limited to Friday, and several parents met with teachers Thursday night. Others will arrange for appointments before and after school hours next week. Conference days with a vacation for elementary students have also been planned after the second and third quarters.

Some schools have been getting "as high as 95% of the parents to come for a conference," according to Fredstrom, pointing out that the oral reporting has been held in Lincoln for more than 15 years.

At some city schools the teachers and principals decided to include students in the report sessions, although a portion of the conference is reserved for parents and teachers only.

The 15-minute meetings are handled according to the individual teacher's preferences, Fredstrom said, with parents able to view, not only reports and evaluations, but also examples of classwork and tests.

More Men To Go To South Viet Nam

Johnson City, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson Thursday authorized the sending of additional U.S. troops to fight in South Viet Nam and sternly criticized Rhodesia's declaration of independence from Britain.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Johnson instructed him to meet the requests of U.S. commanders in Viet Nam for additional personnel.

McNamara did not estimate how many more troops would be sent to augment the 160,000 already there, saying this country does not want to tip off the communists in advance as to what forces they would face in the future.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced that the President instructed him to bring home diplomatic personnel from Rhodesia, and to keep in close touch with the British government which is planning a program of economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

McNamara said the South Vietnamese, with the help of American forces, had defeated a communist monsoon offensive and inflicted heavy casualties.

He said the Viet Cong had hoped to split South Viet Nam at its middle and dismember and maul the South Vietnamese. In this the Viet Cong had been defeated and paid a high price in casualties, McNamara said.

McNamara said some requests for additional forces in South Viet Nam already have been approved, and he anticipated that other requests will be forthcoming soon.

McNamara said there are no plans now to call up Reserve or National Guard units, but he said the regular forces will be increased through the draft and volunteers.

McNamara also announced that there will be additional closings of obsolete and unneeded military installations in the months ahead. He estimated this would save about $500 million annually.

Senate Economy Voice, Harry F. Byrd, Resigns

Richmond, Va (AP)—Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, who fought a rear guard action for economy in government for more than 30 years, resigned from the U.S Senate Thursday.

The 78-year-old Byrd, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee and patriarch of the Virginia Democratic organization, gave physical infirmities as the reason for his decision.

His action, announced to a hastily called news conference by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr., caught the state capitol by surprise. And it immediately touched off a wave of speculation on whom Harrison will appoint to serve, at least, until the next general election in November 1966.

HARRY FLOOD BYRD

Byrd Jr.

The name of the senator's son, State Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., topped the speculation list. Usually knowledgeable politicians regarded Byrd Jr. as the favorite although several other names were mentioned.

The retirement announcement marked the end of an era in Virginia politics and plainly shook the state's political structure.

The import of Byrd's retirement — effective immediately—also may be felt in Congress, notably on the Finance Committee, a clearing house for much of the administration's major legislation.

Long To Succeed

Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, ranking Democrat on the committee, will succeed Byrd in the normal order of things and has been more friendly to some of the President's policies than has the retiring chairman.

A flood of expressions of regret at the necessity for Byrd's decision greeted the announcement in Washington, Virginia and elsewhere in the nation.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said the Senate was losing one of its most distinguished members.

"My friend, Harry Byrd, has given a lifetime of service to his state and nation," Humphrey said. "He is a man of sincere convictions, always a gentleman and ever a patriot."

Impersonal Foes

Byrd had his political foes as well as supporters but the enmity seldom affected personal friendships.

From both sides in Washington came expressions from Byrd's colleagues.

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, the Senate's senior Republican, called Byrd "a tower of strength in the Senate."

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said, "While I honor his wishes in this matter, I do so with regret."

Byrd, whose American antecedents date back to early colonial days, became a millionaire on his own, largely through development of vast apple orchards in Virginia and bordering areas of West Virginia.

Dropped Out At 15

He left school at 15 to take over the family's struggling newspaper, the Winchester Star, and soon put it on its financial feet.

Byrd made a big impact on the state as governor (1926-30), revamping the highway system and projecting a pay-as-you-go policy of financing which became Democratic doctrine and kept the state essentially debt-free.

Byrd was a strong campaigner for President Franklin D. Roosevelt but soon broke with him. Byrd frequently refers to himself as an original New Dealer who was left by the New Deal when Roosevelt abandoned his ideas of government economy and embarked on the program of deficit financing.

But Byrd's hands on the fiscal reins after he took over as Senate finance chairman couldn't stunt the growing federal budget. During his tenure the national budget grew from about $4 billion to more than $100 billion and a modest federal debt soared beyond $300 billion.

Big Voice

While Byrd was a big voice of opposition — to spending, to school integration, to civil rights—he kept his personal friendships with Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, both of whom visited him at his Rosemont estate.

Through the years Byrd was an enthusiastic outdoors man, clad in khakis, brogans and a battered felt hat, rambling through his orchards or climbing Old Rag Mountain in the Blue Ridge.

Last year, at the height of the presidential political season in which the senator maintained his usual "golden silence," Mrs. Byrd—ailing for years—died.

Johnson, on the eve of his nomination at Atlantic City flew down to the funeral at Winchester.

The loss of his wife and the recurrence of arthritis which had bothered him for some time seemed to slow the senator and the hikes on the free time away from Washington became the exception and not the rule.

So the senator called it quits.

Americans Rally For Viet Nam

New York (UPI)—Beneath the red, white and blue folds of Old Glory, Americans by the thousands Thursday turned the annual Veterans Day observance into a show of support for the fighting men in Viet Nam.

The mornful sound of Taps memoralized the nation's war dead. Its living warriors were accorded pledges of honor, endorsements of valor, praise of sacrifice and donations of life's blood.

Sporadic antiwar demonstrations took place here and there. In Massachusetts, a soldier was arrested while taking part in a Viet Nam war protest at the gates of his army base.

Old-Time Fervor

Some areas reported a return of old-time patriotic fervor in Veterans Day ceremonies that had become more or less ritualistic over the years. Originally Armistice Day commemorating the end of World War I, the holiday was changed in name in 1954 to honor veterans of all wars.

Virtually all the parades, dinners, wreath layings and orations were keyed to support of American servicemen in Viet Nam. Their presence there has been denounced with increasing frequently recently by antiwar picketing, sit-ins, draft card burnings and self-immolation by fire.

American Legion headquarters distributed 10 million lapel flags for the holiday, with a card saying "Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Viet Nam—I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts."

The war in Viet Nam was brought close to the people of Audubon, Iowa, as Donald D. Haskins, 22, a sailor who lost his life at Da Nang last month, was laid to rest during the day.

Tomb of Unknown

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey placed a presidential wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns and declared:

"We are not in Viet Nam to establish any American colony, philosophy or base. We are not there to enrich ourselves or to subjugate others to our will."

At Fordham Law School in New York, nearly 200 students lined up to donate blood for Americans in Viet Nam. Heading the line was Cornelius M. Ahearn, 24, with a brother in the Marines in Korea.

He declared, "It's about time the other side of the coin was allowed to express itself, to show there are young people in America who support the sacrifices of our fighting men."

A group of faculy members took part in the blood donation. Among them was the law school dean, William H. Mulligan.

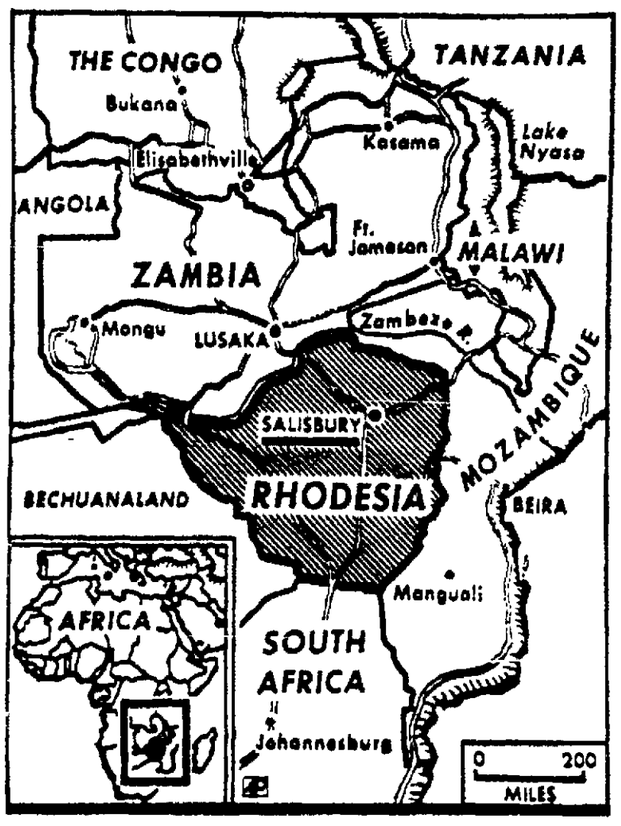
Whites Brace For Trade Siege

Salisbury, Rhodesia (AP) — A grim, determined white minority in Rhodesia braced itself Thursday for an economic siege. It hoped for support from the few remaining white-dominated regions of black Africa, including South Africa and Portuguse territories.

If it has trouble in an economic war with the British Commonwealth, so will those who declared the war.

The economies of some of its black-ruled neighbors lean on Rhodesia, a rich land with seugar, tobacco, cotton, coal, gold, diamonds and other wealth. It controls the rail line leading to the sea by way of Portuguese Mozambique.



RHODESIA . . . declares independence.

Copper, Coal

Neighboring black-ruled Zambia, formerly Northern Rhodesia, produces 16% of the world's copper. Unless a proposed airlift works, its economy could be wrecked without the rail line. Coal for its copper industry has come exclusively from Rhodesia.

Largly because of its wealth, beauty and climate, Rhodesia is one of the last units of the former British Empire in Africa to hold out against the tide of African nationalism.

So far as Africans were concerned, Rhodesia may have been all too attractive. Other areas had health problems, but Rhodesia's climate proved superb and its earth rich. The whites began settling here three quarters of a century ago.

Size Of Montana

Rhodesia is called Zimbabwe by the black African nationalists. It has 225,000 whites and 3.8 million blacks in an area the size of Montana. His average income of about $5,000 a year lets the white man have servants, a car or two and a house of his own

The average black's income is in the vicinity of $300. Of a labor force of 620,000, the total in domestic service is 94,000; in farming and allied activities, 273,000.

Although blacks outnumber whites 18-1, the whites base their claim to this land on the idea that they made it what it is today. They are proud of Salisbury, a capital with well-stocked stores, tall buildings and avenues lined by flowering trees.

Rhodes Built It

A larger-than-life statue of empire-builder Cecil Rhodes, for whom Rhodesia was named, gazes down on a scene of outward prosperity. Once this land was virtually his personal property. Rhodes in 1888 got a British royal charter to put the territory under his British South Africa Co. and administer it in the name of the British crown.

Rhodes died in 1902, but his spirit remained. After the company's charter expired, the white settlers discarded a proposal to join South Africa. They elected to become Britain's first self-governing colony in 1923. British control gradually receded.

Now Rhodesia wonders whether British arms will be used against "kith and kin," as the whites put it. If so, Rhodesia would rely on its Rhodesia of all Britain's colonies developed efficient armed forces. It has an air force of Canberra jets and about 24 jet fighters.

BRIBERY TRIAL . . .

Defense Rests In Adams' Case

Omaha (AP)—A succession of character witnesses testified Thursday afternoon to the excellence of former city councilman Ernest Adams' reputation and his attorney rested Adams' case in the John B. Coleman bribery trial.

Adams is one of three defendants accused of soliciting bribes from Coleman when the Chicago investor sought rezoning of a building site.

The case for another of the defendants, Stephen T. Novak, another former councilman, is scheduled to begin Friday. Also still to come is the defense case for real estate man Ronald Abboud.

Adams' character witnesses included Omaha attorney Margaret Fischer, Boys Town coach Maurice (Skip) Palrang, former Omaha University Dean William H. Thompson, University of Omaha coach Al Canigia and Omaha broadcasting executive Lyle Bremser.

Testifying in his own behalf Adams said he had never asked or received a bribe from Coleman.

Coleman had testified the payoffs included $5,000 to Adams, and that the payment was to come from Abboud.

A $5,000 check to Adams' firm from Abboud is part of the evidence in the case.

Earnest Money'

Adams testified that the check represented an earnest money payment — a down payment if the deal was completed — for a piece of property Abboud said he would buy from Adams.

Two defense witnesses testified that Adams had offered them the same property earlier and asked a down payment of $5,000, or possibly $4,000.

Under cross examination Adams said that the deal was not completed and that therefore the property did not change hands. Under the circumstances Adams said he considered that Abboud had forfeited the $5,000. Adams said he had therefore not returned the money.

He said there had been no written purchase agreement.

Still under cross examination of County Attorney Donald Knowles, Adams said that Abboud's attorney had written Adams' attorney that Abboud was representing Coleman in seeking to buy the land.

Hardin Sees New Era Of Extension Work

"Clearly, we have entered a new era of Extension work," University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin told those attending the Nebraska Agricultural Extension conference here Thursday.

Chancellor Hardin said in a talk at the Nebraska Center that the University is interested in making the total competencies of the institution available to all citizens in the state. At the same time he said, the traditional programs in agriculture and home economics are being strengthened and modernized.

"We have decided to build on what we have . . . aided by the goodwill built up throughout the state by the Agricultural Extension Service and the irreplaceable body of experience," Dr. Hardin stated.

All efforts are being directed toward making the University a more vibrant force in the state, he stressed, adding that "we must attempt to tailor Extension programs to the needs of a particular community."

Despite the greater emphasis being placed on Extension work and continuing or adult education, the largest single responsibility of the University continues to be that of providing the best learning opportunity possible for undergraduate students, Dr. Hardin emphasized.

Kidney Patient Is 'In Middle Of Big Battle'

Omaha (UPI) — Omaha's first kidney transplant patient "is in the middle of the big battle," doctors said Thursday.

The patient, Sidney Schlotfeld, was in "fine" clinical condition, the doctors said, but added there had been no kidney function during the last 24 hours.

A spokesman for the five-man surgical team that performed the operation, said it was not clear "if the problem is rejection. This is the most likely explanation, but some mechanical problem could be included."

The doctors said Schlotfeld, a former Omaha police officer is in good spirits. A surgeon said Schlotfeld has been aware of the rejection possibilities from the start.

Plans call for Schlotfeld to be returned to the artificial kidney within the next day or two to help his physical condition.

Omaha (AP) — An executive of the National Association of Blue Shield says about 87% of those answering government questionnaires have indicated they will participate in Medicare

Wilber Farm Hand Wanted in Beating Caught At Roadblock

Troy, Kan. (UPI)—A farm hand wanted in the beating of a rural Saline County, Neb., couple and the theft of money and a car was arrested at a county roadblock near here Thursday.

Doniphan County Sheriff Clyde L. Blanton said he was holding Joseph Pesek, 51, rural Wilber, Neb., in the county jail.

He said Pesek was wanted by Saline County, Neb., and that the FBI had entered the case since a stolen car was believed taken across state lines.

Pesek, for the time being, was held on a charge of having no drivers license. Since Thursday was a holiday, he was scheduled for an appearance Friday morning before probate Judge Virgil Begesse.

Pesek was the object of a search after Mr. and Mrs. Emil Odbody reported to Saline County Sheriff John Tesar that they had been beaten and robbed. Pesek had worked for about one year on the Odbody farm, 14 miles west of Wilber.

Tesar said the couple was beaten about 10 a.m. Friday for no reason. Odbody's arm was broken and Mrs. Odbody suffered a cut above her eye and other cuts and bruises on her face and head.

The couple told Tesar that they attempted to enter their 1961 model car but were threatened with a board. They walked to neighbors for help and returned to find their car gone. They said $200 and two shotguns were missing.

Pesek was sighted driving east on U.S. 36, about seven miles east of Hiawatha, headed towards here.

Kansas Highway Patrolman David Dennis followed the wanted car and radioed to Blanton, who set up a roadblock about seven miles from Troy.

Blanton said Pesek offered no resistance. He said no large amount of money or shotguns were found.

Big Show Northeast

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If the American people take offense at foreign interpretations of the electric failure in northeast United States, they have no one to blame but themselves. The failure, which left our eastern seaboard in up to 10 hours of darkness, has been described in such words as "disaster" and "nightmare." We cannot see that it was either of these things.

In fact, for millions of people it was more or less of a lark. It was an inconvenience to many, a financial loss and apparently resulted in one death but it hardly seems to classify as a "disaster." It is an embarrassing thing to a great nation such as ours and should be taken seriously but we have made it look almost like the end of the world. Some commentators have seen in the blackout ominous threats to our military security. They have envisioned a gigantic breakdown of all the machinery of our society, caused by a simple act of sabotage or a single atomic bomb that leaves the nation reeling in helplessness.

Word Pictures Ominous

In still more advanced visions, some have taken counsel with their fright and put us down as a third or fourth-rate power in the world. They look at it like a football rating where the top team slips to fourth place or worse when it loses a game. It is enough to make you a little sick of some of the socalled voices of intelligent authority in the land.

One columnist, Bob Considine, has expressed our sentiments exactly. Speaking of radio comment during the blackout, Considine said: "They seemed to marvel (announcers) more over the fact that New Yorkers and the other 15,000,000 blanked by the breakdown acted like civilized human beings. I don't know what we were supposed to do, but when we failed to do it, we certainly caused one helluva surprise in radio circles."

Considine continued: "There is little or no looting, think of that!' one treasured larynx informed us through our transistor. 'When you think of all the opportunities . . .' His voice trailed off wistfully, as if he wished he had been among the shoppers at Tiffany's, Cartier's, Van Cleef & Arpels and the bottled goods department at the supermarket when the power stuttered once or twice and went blooey.

"From the first reports in, we all conducted ourselves pretty much as we would have if the lights had stayed on, though there was a better spirit of friendliness and neighborliness afoot. Free food was passed down into stranded subway cars, and here and there in the stygian blackness below the ground, stranded commuters sang. In the Bronx a priest opened the door of his candle-lit church, not only to all who wished to enter but to distribute votive candles ordinarily burned before a patron saint's statue. Many a meal was cooked last night in the Bronx by light earmarked for St. Jude."

Considine goes on to tell of a pianist performing in Carnegie Hall who, when the lights went out, finished his rendition of Chopin's "Polonaise — Fantasy" without missing a note. When the lights finally came back on, said Considine with sarcasm, it was discovered that Horowitz (the pianist) had not looted the Steinway.

No wonder the rest of the world has been a little taken back by the development. No wonder the Russians have made front-page fun of this nation and its people, showing them to be like a bunch of scared rabbits. No wonder the world seems to be laughing up its sleeve a bit at our plight.

The unfortunate thing is that the view the world gets of us is not an accurate one. The accurate one is the one presented by Considine — people not in the least bit panicked, making the best of things as they came along and even having a little fun in the process.

If a blackout is a "disaster" or a "nightmare," what would our nation do if it were bombed? If we are so soft and so spoiled that we cannot take in our stride an interruption in the easy life to which we have become accustomed, we certainly are not the first-rate power we think we are. If our military preparedness is shattered when a man throws the wrong transformer switch, then we certainly do have something to worry about. But the thing is that none of this is the case. President Johnson surely did not help the situation any with his almost frantic demand for a Federal Power Commission investigation. The Congress hasn't helped with promises that the House and Senate would investigate the matter.

Not A True Picture

And we are sorry to say, some of the press and its writers have not helped with their exaggerated accounts and prolific use of adjectives. The American people ought to be incensed and disgusted with the manner in which they have been represented and the light in which they have been presented, and no pun there is intended. It is hoped we are not the pampered babies we have been made out to be or that we have the nervous jerks with which we are credited.

"Why Can't De Gaulle Throw His Hat In Like Anybody Else?!"

Rhodesia Asserts Independence

Rhodesia, headed by Prime Minister Ian Smith's all or nothing administration, declared its independence from the British Commonwealth and gave the United Kingdom its most serious crisis since World War II.

The United States stands solidly with Great Britain. It has already said that it will support British decisions, will join in the boycott of trade against Rhodesia, and will provide the economic backing Britain may need to restore its position. Canada has already recalled its trade secretary. Other empire nations are expected to act promptly in the same manner.

The issue: Rhodesia's determination to maintain white supremacy in a country where the native blacks outnumber the whites by 18 to 1. At this stage it appears to be a ruinous position. The threat of independence caused a drop from $70 million to $56,600,000 in Rhodesian bank assets the last two weeks of October. And actual independence can bring all of the nations of black Africa into conflict with Rhodesia. To make it worse neither the West nor the communist countries dare support such a racial policy as Rhodesia has recited.

Until events unfold the world can only hope that Rhodesia, itself, sees the impossibility of its stand and returns quickly enough to sanity to reject the action of its government and return to work on a compromise program suggested a week ago by Britain's Prime Minister Wilson, originally accepted by Rhodesia. That can yet be the way out, but it will take decisive action by the Rhodesian citizens.

Pending that, the coming weeks will be perilous to world peace and order.

Politics And Aluminum

President Johnson appears to have won his clash with the aluminum industry over a planned increase in prices. The industry leaders have rescinded announced price increases and others are expected to follow suit after the President made his dislike of the hikes amply known.

The confrontation can be debated at great length on the economic front. Is government out of order when it attempts to and does influence the price of goods? Should industry be wholly responsible for determining the price of its goods in consideration of market conditions?

That argument will never be settled but some of the political implications involved will ultimately come to a head. It was the confrontation on this same basis with the steel industry that raised in industry its initial doubts of the administration of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy went on with other policies that eventually restored confidence of the business world in his administration but the matter was an important political consideration. Now the question will be whether Johnson's stand against the aluminum industry will undermine the business support he has enjoyed to date.

This question hinges, in part, on just how justified the proposed increases were. If the aluminum industry needed an increase, disfavor with the President is likely to run pretty deep. But if the industry can easily live without the increase, it is not likely to stand too aloof on principles at the expense of political gains elsewhere that could materialize into economic advantage.

Good For Lots Of Things

We have never heard of an editorial that ever cured a human being of any physical ailment. And we have been listening for a long while.

But conversely we have never heard of anything written by scientists or physicians out of which any 100 percent, true blue American could make head or tails.

In such an impasse we must this time step in to inform the public that photography has become a great aid in detecting blood clots and can do so in six or eight minutes.

Who knows—tomorrow's doctor may save many many lives by whipping out his Brownie camera and taking a snap shot before he goes to work with his brace and bit.

The main trouble is right now, that the special cameras cost $27,000 each and there are only 25 in use in the U.S.A. One is in use at the Georgetown University hospital. It is called a scintillation camera which means that it can photograph nuclear radiations. The person in doubt about his continued good health is shot with radio-active substance in the blood stream. Then he is next loaded up with a microaggregated albumin, laid on an operating table and after a few moments a full length picture is taken. Here is what happens:

The albumin cannot get by a clot and collects around it. This makes a good nesting place for the radio active substance with the result that the clot shows up on the photograph like a sparkler.

We have a feeling this camera device will find a broader use that identifying blood clots.

Smear a little radio active material on little Johnny and then turn him loose. If you want to find him quickly take a picture of the general neighborhood. His scintillation will give him away every time.

Postoffice Shows Its Efficiency

WASHINGTON — Ed Day, the former postmaster general, tells a story in his new book, "My Appointed Round," of how a letter bearing only the address "SOB Washington" was delivered to me shortly after President Harry Truman shot some uncomplimentary abbreviations in my direction.

The ex-postmaster general told the story to illustrate the efficiency of the Post Office.

Actually the post office was even more efficient than he indicated. The letter did not bear the address "Washington." It simply bore the initials "The SOB" with no street address, no city, and no country. The Post Office brought it straight to my door.

It's ironic that President Johnson wired Chairman Joe Swidler of the Federal Power Commission asking for a complete survey of the power blackout in New York and what caused it.

Johnson had recently refused to reappoint Swidler as chairman of the FPC, despite the fact that Swidler has done one of the best jobs in recent history and received the backing of both consumers and industry alike.

Johnson's telegram requesting an immediate survey of the causes for the northeast disaster was sent on November 10, twelve hours after Swidler announced that he was retiring — because of Johnson's failure to reappoint him—on November 15.

Behind the President's pulling the rug out from under Chairman Swidler is an interesting personal story which goes back to 1956 when Lyndon Johnson, senator from Texas, was immersed in cutthroat Texas politics. Johnson was then supporting Gov. Price Daniel against Ralph Yarborough in the race for the U.S. Senate. In that race LBJ got the support of Clyde Ellis, head of the Rural Electric Co-ops, and a potent political force in Texas. Johnson's friend, Gov. Daniel, lost the race to Yarborough, who is now in the Senate. Nevertheless, Johnson remained grateful to his friend Ellis. And when Ellis protested against the reappointment of Joe Swidler to the chairmanship of the Federal Power Commission, the onetime senator from Texas, now in the White House, backed him up.

Ellis was sore because Swidler had maintained the REA co-ops dealing in interstate commerce should be regulated just like any other company shipping power across state lines. Swidler did not favor regulating intrastate co-ops.

Stepping on the co-ops' toes aroused such a backfire in Congress that the FP had to retreat and Swidler eventually lost his job.

Blackout Spurs Johnson To Action

WASHINGTON — Events are conspiring to create stress and strain in the big-business sector of President Johnson's government by consensus.

The still mysterious calamity-comedy of the power failure which blacked out the Northeast has had an immediate personal impact on the voters which they will not soon forget. It raised staggering questions about the national defense. The national economy cannot afford such breakdowns.

The President instantly grasped all these things and sought at once to gather the reins into his own hands. Within moments of hearing the blackout news he was on the telephone ordering the Federal Power Commission to investigate. He directed the office of emergency planning, headed by his political intimate, Buford Ellington, to get cracking. For good measure he rang in the FBI and, if it seems necessary, will include the Defense Department. Johnson already engaged in putting pressure on the giant aluminum industry to retract a price increase he views as unjustified and inflationary. His weapon is the government stockpile of the vital metal, and he has boosted price-depressing sales of it from 200,000 to 300,000 tons.

In the swiftly expanding communications field, the Federal Communications Commission is boldly challenging the rate structure of the brilliant and seemingly inviolable American Telephone and Telegraph Company. FCC acted on its own after some chastising by influential members of Congress, but its seven members all voted for the new probe.

What the President thinks of it is not known. He is far too wary to involve himself in what might seem to be an attack on the agency which regulates the industry producing the Johnson personal fortune. Nor is public disagreement with an influential segment of Congress a Johnson tactic.

While he has given the FPC no chance to repeat the FCC coup, his administration is now engaged on three fronts with the biggest of the big businesses which rule the private sector of the economy. It will be a fascinating exercise, obedient to none of the rules which governed similar encounters of the past under both Roosevelts, Harry Truman and John F. Kennedy.

Johnson created his consensus and values it highly. He is the first Democratic president to make reconciliation with big business a cardinal article of policy, and on the whole he has done remarkably well with it.

Today's situation does not portend crusades against his new allies. That is not the Johnson style. The tug-of-war will go on only long enough to open negotiations which will save the consensus in which the President so passionately believes. Then will handle the political consequences himself.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Hunters Generally Unwelcome

By MONA B. PARKER

"If you could stack all the candy collected on Halloween in one pile," asked the Garden County News, at Oshkosh, "how many tons would it represent?"

And how many tummy-aches?

A South Sioux City man did something a little different for his guests on witches' and goblins' night. He cooked hot dogs on his outdoor grill and served them up to a steady line of customers as long as the hot dogs held out. He served 130 and could easily have used 50 more. There were even a few accompanying adults who looked a little hungry who were invited to partake, also.

"Still a bargain—if you can use it," the Wakefield Republican described a husking hook and wrist band. The paper carried a picture of Dave Nelson buying such autumn-time equipment from merchant Myron Olson. Not precisely an item that is stocked regularly any more a boxful was found when some old pieces were moved during remodeling. So when Mr. Nelson came in with his request, Mr. Olson was prompt to fill the order.

Some years ago, the Republican recalled, the hooks sold for 65 cents and the wrist bands for 40 cents. Mr. Nelson hit bargain day at the coop exchange, however, securing them both for a quarter.

Max Martin, editor of the Pawnee Republican, comments that corn-picking by hand is a fast disappearing act, and about the only hand picking to be observed is to open up a field. Besides, he asks, where would anyone find horses trained to pull a wagon through the fields? He places a high estimate at 10 or 15 teams of horses throughout Pawnee County that have ever been used in a corn field.

It used to be a measure of working ability and strength in a man. One could find 100-bushel-a-day shuckers without too much trouble, and many a school boy's seat in class was vacant during corn-husking time of year. The youngsters shucked some corn and hunted some pheasants, and were pretty adept at both the work and the play, Mr. Martin remembered.

* * *

Mrs. F. H. Price declares in the Newman Grove Reporter that when the fall harvesting is done, "farmers will feel much safer . . ."

The Laurel Advocate has sold more "No Hunting or Trespassing Without Permission" signs this year than ever before. Perhaps, Editor Duane Kunzman analyzes, because many fields of beans, milo and corn are yet to be gleaned.

The Morrill Mail likewise has been moving similar signs like the proverbial hot cakes. One man said he was going to post his signs around the house. "It's bad enough to have his stock shot, but he's trying to keep those few thoughtless hunters who make a bad name for the many good ones from shooting his family."

May Dee Stoltzman writes a column of "Chit Chat" chatter for the West Point Republican, and, being a woman, knows and appreciates fully how another woman reacts to a given situation, and why. A Minnesota sister-in-law was visiting them, and relating recent fishing experiences up at the lakes. Enthusiastic but not too expert at the sport, she was fishing from the pontoon, when she felt a sharp tug on her line and had hooked a big Northern. No net handy, she "did just what most women would do," Mrs. Stoltzman explained. Gave a tremendous tug on the line, and the fish went sailing over her head and landed on the bank. It's not easy, picking up a "slimy, wiggling fish," and said fish was intent on nothing quite so much as getting back into the friendly water. The distraught fisherwoman realized that nobody would believe later that she had almost caught a six-pound Northern. Concluded Mrs. Stoltzman's account: "Finally, realizing that it was up to her if she wanted to keep the fish, she settled the problem in a hurry. She sat on it."

When two young Butler County hunters accidentally ran over a guinea near Rising City, they stopped, picked up the bird and took it to the home of the owner, impressing favorably both owner and the David City Banner-Press . . .

However, anyone viewing the sign on a Buffalo County farm boundary might conclude that the owner did not feel especially charitable toward hunters. "Anyone caught on these premises," emphasized the sign, "will be shot."

Job Corps Plan

Lincoln, Neb.

In the November 6 Star we learn that the Chamber of Commerce in a secret meeting approved a Job Corps for Lincoln and the City Council was expected to give the idea a push on Monday. Fast work, but why the hush-hush, and how about some community expression before this plan goes further?

No matter how sincere and hopeful this program may be, the young people enrolled come from big city slums. The story so far indicates they bring many problems with them. Many citizens in Job Corps cities have taken agonizing reappraisals — doubtless also in Flagstaff, Arizona, where four Job Corpsmen recently pleaded guilty to second degree rape.

Let us give this proposal some good hard looks.

The Right-Wing

Lincoln, Neb.

I am indebted to Group Research Report for the following:

John Birch Society revenues: In 1964 they doubled, to $3.2 million. In 1965 they are expected to reach over $6 million. They are trying to raise $12 million for the 1966 congressional elections.

About the Minutemen: Just recently a cache of arms and a secret drill ground of the Minutemen, a group preparing for guerrilla warfare, was disclosed less than 50 miles from Washington, D.C.

Extremist groups are more active now than ever before. The defeat of Barry Goldwater and his backers in 1964 did not bring extremism in the U.S. to an end. Here are some recent headlines. They tell a story of growing activity in all parts of the country and all directed toward imposing an inflexible system of thought control on the nation.

The right-wing is dedicated to

Destruction of the United Nations as an effective instrument of peace.

Discrimination against minority groups.

Barring all immigration.

Abolition of trade unions as effective instruments of protection for working people.

Vigilante action against all other groups with whom they disagree.

Domination of our schools and intimidation of the clergy.

Nullification of virtually all social legislation passed in the last 30 years.

Questioning the loyalty of those with whom they disagree.

All of these objectives are hidden beneath a cloak of patriotism and "pure" Americanism.

The right-wing extremists are supported by some of the wealthiest individuals in the world and some of the largest corporations in the country. They take in about $30 million a year.

One columnist, Bob Considine, has expressed our sentiments exactly. Speaking of radio comment during the blackout, Considine said: "They seemed to marvel (announcers) more over the fact that New Yorkers and the other 15,000,000 blanked by the breakdown acted like civilized human beings. I don't know what we were supposed to do, but when we failed to do it, we certainly caused one helluva surprise in radio circles."

Considine continued: " 'There is little or no looting, think of that!' one treasured larynx informed us through our transistor. 'When you think of all the opportunities . . .' His voice trailed off wistfully, as if he wished he had been among the shoppers at Tiffany's, Cartier's, Van Cleef & Arpels and the bottled goods department at the supermarket when the power stuttered once or twice and went blooey.

"From the first reports in, we all conducted ourselves pretty much as we would have if the lights had stayed on, though there was a better spirit of friendliness and neighborliness afoot. Free food was passed down into stranded subway cars, and here and there in the stygian blackness below the ground, stranded commuters sang. In the Bronx a priest opened the door of his candle-lit church, not only to all who wished to enter but to distribute votive candles ordinarily burned before a patron saint's statue. Many a meal was cooked last night in the Bronx by light earmarked for St. Jude."

Considine goes on to tell of a pianist performing in Carnegie Hall who, when the lights went out, finished his rendition of Chopin's "Polonaise — Fantasy" without missing a note. When the lights finally came back on, said Considine with sarcasm, it was discovered that Horowitz (the pianist) had not looted the Steinway.

No wonder the rest of the world has been a little taken back by the development. No wonder the Russians have made front-page fun of this nation and its people, showing them to be like a bunch of scared rabbits. No wonder the world seems to be laughing up its sleeve a bit at our plight.

The unfortunate thing is that the view the world gets of us is not an accurate one. The accurate one is the one presented by Considine — people not in the least bit panicked, making the best of things as they came along and even having a little fun in the process.

If a blackout is a "disaster" or a "nightmare," what would our nation do if it were bombed? If we are so soft and so spoiled that we cannot take in our stride an interruption in the easy life to which we have become accustomed, we certainly are not the first-rate power we think we are. If our military preparedness is shattered when a man throws the wrong transformer switch, then we certainly do have something to worry about. But the thing is that none of this is the case. President Johnson surely did not help the situation any with his almost frantic demand for a Federal Power Commission investigation. The Congress hasn't helped with promises that the House and Senate would investigate the matter.

Not A True Picture

And we are sorry to say, some of the press and its writers have not helped with their exaggerated accounts and prolific use of adjectives. The American people ought to be incensed and disgusted with the manner in which they have been represented and the light in which they have been presented, and no pun there is intended. It is hoped we are not the pampered babies we have been made out to be or that we have the nervous jerks with which we are credited.

"Why Can't De Gaulle Throw His Hat In Like Anybody Else?!"

Rhodesia Asserts Independence

Rhodesia, headed by Prime Minister Ian Smith's all or nothing administration, declared its independence from the British Commonwealth and gave the United Kingdom its most serious crisis since World War II.

The United States stands solidly with Great Britain. It has already said that it will support British decisions, will join in the boycott of trade against Rhodesia, and will provide the economic backing Britain may need to restore its position. Canada has already recalled its trade secretary. Other empire nations are expected to act promptly in the same manner.

The issue: Rhodesia's determination to maintain white supremacy in a country where the native blacks outnumber the whites by 18 to 1. At this stage it appears to be a ruinous position. The threat of independence caused a drop from $70 million to $56,600,000 in Rhodesian bank assets the last two weeks of October. And actual independence can bring all of the nations of black Africa into conflict with Rhodesia. To make it worse neither the West nor the communist countries dare support such a racial policy as Rhodesia has recited.

Until events unfold the world can only hope that Rhodesia, itself, sees the impossibility of its stand and returns quickly enough to sanity to reject the action of its government and return to work on a compromise program suggested a week ago by Britain's Prime Minister Wilson, originally accepted by Rhodesia. That can yet be the way out, but it will take decisive action by the Rhodesian citizens.

Pending that, the coming weeks will be perilous to world peace and order.

Politics And Aluminum

President Johnson appears to have won his clash with the aluminum industry over a planned increase in prices. The industry leaders have rescinded announced price increases and others are expected to follow suit after the President made his dislike of the hikes amply known.

The confrontation can be debated at great length on the economic front. Is government out of order when it attempts to and does influence the price of goods? Should industry be wholly responsible for determining the price of its goods in consideration of market conditions?

That argument will never be settled but some of the political implications involved will ultimately come to a head. It was the confrontation on this same basis with the steel industry that raised in industry its initial doubts of the administration of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy went on with other policies that eventually restored confidence of the business world in his administration but the matter was an important political consideration. Now the question will be whether Johnson's stand against the aluminum industry will undermine the business support he has enjoyed to date.

This question hinges, in part, on just how justified the proposed increases were. If the aluminum industry needed an increase, disfavor with the President is likely to run pretty deep. But if the industry can easily live without the increase, it is not likely to stand too aloof on principles at the expense of political gains elsewhere that could materialize into economic advantage.

Good For Lots Of Things

We have never heard of an editorial that ever cured a human being of any physical ailment And we have been listening for a long while.

But conversely we have never heard of anything written by scientists or physicians out of which any 100 percent, true blue American could make head or tails.

In such an impasse we must this time step in to inform the public that photography has become a great aid in detecting blood clots and can do so in six or eight minutes.

Who knows—tomorrow's doctor may save many many lives by whipping out his Brownie camera and taking a snap shot before he goes to work with his brace and bit.

The main trouble is, right now, that the special cameras cost $27,000 each and there are only 25 in use in the U.S.A. One is in use at the Georgetown University hospital. It is called a scintillation camera which means that it can photograph nuclear radiations. The person in doubt about his continued good health is shot with radio-active substance in the blood stream. Then he is next loaded up with a microaggregated albumin, laid on an operating table and after a few moments a full length picture is taken. Here is what happens:

The albumin cannot get by a clot and collects around it. This makes a good nesting place for the radio active substance with the result that the clot shows up on the photograph like a sparkler.

We have a feeling this camera device will find a broader use that identifying blood clots.

Smear a little radio active material on little Johnny and then turn him loose. If you want to find him quickly take a picture of the general neighborhood. His scintillation will give him away every time.

Postoffice Shows Its Efficiency

WASHINGTON — Ed Day, the former postmaster general, tells a story in his new book, "My Appointed Round," of how a letter bearing only the address "SOB Washington" was delivered to me shortly after President Harry Truman shot some uncomplimentary abbreviations in my direction.

The ex-postmaster general told the story to illustrate the efficiency of the Post Office.

Actually the post office was even more efficient than he indicated. The letter did not bear the address "Washington." It simply bore the initials "The SOB" with no street address, no city, and no country. The Post Office brought it straight to my door.

It's ironic that President Johnson wired Chairman Joe Swidler of the Federal Power Commission asking for a complete survey of the power blackout in New York and what caused it.

Johnson had recently refused to reappoint Swidler as chairman of the FPC, despite the fact that Swidler has done one of the best jobs in recent history and received the backing of both consumers and industry alike.

Johnson's telegram requesting an immediate survey of the causes for the northeast disaster was sent on November 10, twelve hours after Swidler announced that he was retiring — because of Johnson's failure to reappoint him—on November 15.

Behind the President's pulling the rug out from under Chairman Swidler is an interesting personal story which goes back to 1956 when Lyndon Johnson, senator from Texas, was immersed in cutthroat Texas politics. Johnson was then supporting Gov. Price Daniel against Ralph Yarborough in the race for the U.S. Senate. In that race LBJ got the support of Clyde Ellis, head of the Rural Electric Co-ops, and a potent political force in Texas. Johnson's friend, Gov. Daniel, lost the race to Yarborough, who is now in the Senate. Nevertheless, Johnson remained grateful to his friend Ellis And when Ellis protested against the reappointment of Joe Swidler to the chairmanship of the Federal Power Commission, the onetime senator from Texas, now in the White House, backed him up.

Ellis was sore because Swidler had maintained the REA co-ops dealing in interstate commerce should be regulated just like any other company shipping power across state lines. Swidler did not favor regulating intrastate co-ops.

Stepping on the co-ops' toes aroused such a backfire in Congress that the FP had to retreat and Swidler eventually lost his job.

Blackout Spurs Johnson To Action

WASHINGTON — Events are conspiring to create stress and strain in the big-business sector of President Johnson's government by consensus.

The still mysterious calamity-comedy of the power failure which blacked out the Northeast has had an immediate personal impact on the voters which they will not soon forget. It raised staggering questions about the national defense. The national economy cannot afford such breakdowns.

The President instantly grasped all these things and sought at once to gather the reins into his own hands. Within moments of hearing the blackout news he was on the telephone ordering the Federal Power Commission to investigate. He directed the office of emergency planning, headed by his political intimate, Buford Ellington, to get cracking. For good measure he rang in the FBI and, if it seems necessary, will include the Defense Department. Johnson already engaged in putting pressure on the giant aluminum industry to retract a price increase he views as unjustified and inflationary. His weapon is the government stockpile of the vital metal, and he has boosted price-depressing sales of it from 200,000 to 300,000 tons.

In the swiftly expanding communications field, the Federal Communications Commission is boldly challenging the rate structure of the brilliant and seemingly inviolable American Telephone and Telegraph Company. FCC acted on its own after some chastising by influential members of Congress, but its seven members all voted for the new probe.

What the President thinks of it is not known. He is far too wary to involve himself in what might seem to be an attack on the agency which regulates the industry producing the Johnson personal fortune. Nor is public disagreement with an influential segment of Congress a Johnson tactic.

While he has given the FPC no chance to repeat the FCC coup, his administration is now engaged on three fronts with the biggest of the big businesses which rule the private sector of the economy. It will be a fascinating exercise, obedient to none of the rules which governed similar encounters of the past under both Roosevelts, Harry Truman and John F. Kennedy.

Johnson created his consensus and values it highly. He is the first Democratic president to make reconciliation with big business a cardinal article of policy, and on the whole he has done remarkably well with it.

Today's situation does not portend crusades against his new allies. That is not the Johnson style. The tug-of-war will go on only long enough to open negotiations which will save the consensus in which the President so passionately believes. Then will handle the political consequences himself.

A South Sioux City man did something a little different for his guests on witches' and goblins' night. He cooked hot dogs on his outdoor grill and served them up to a steady line of customers as long as the hot dogs held out. He served 130 and could easily have used 50 more. There were even a few accompanying adults who looked a little hungry who were invited to partake, also.

"Still a bargain—if you can use it," the Wakefield Republican described a husking hook and wrist band. The paper carried a picture of Dave Nelson buying such autumn-time equipment from merchant Myron Olson. Not precisely an item that is stocked regularly any more a boxful was found when some old pieces were moved during remodeling. So when Mr. Nelson came in with his request, Mr. Olson was prompt to fill the order.

Some years ago, the Republican recalled, the hooks sold for 65 cents and the wrist bands for 40 cents. Mr. Nelson hit bargain day at the coop exchange, however, securing them both for a quarter.

Max Martin, editor of the Pawnee Republican, comments that corn-picking by hand is a fast disappearing act, and about the only hand picking to be observed is to open up a field. Besides, he asks, where would anyone find horses trained to pull a wagon through the fields? He places a high estimate at 10 or 15 teams of horses throughout Pawnee County that have ever been used in a corn field.

It used to be a measure of working ability and strength in a man. One could find 100-bushel-a-day shuckers without too much trouble, and many a school boy's seat in class was vacant during corn-husking time of year. The youngsters shucked some corn and hunted some pheasants, and were pretty adept at both the work and the play, Mr. Martin remembered.

Mrs. F. H. Price declares in the Newman Grove Reporter that when the fall harvesting is done, "farmers will feel much safer . . . "

The Laurel Advocate has sold more "No Hunting or Trespassing Without Permission" signs this year than ever before. Perhaps, Editor Duane Kunzman analyzes, because many fields of beans, milo and corn are yet to be gleaned.

The Morrill Mail likewise has been moving similar signs like the proverbial hot cakes. One man said he was going to post his signs around the house. "It's bad enough to have his stock shot, but he's trying to keep those few thoughtless hunters who make a bad name for the many good ones from shooting his family."

When two young Butler County hunters accidentally ran over a guinea near Rising City, they stopped, picked up the bird and took it to the home of the owner, impressing favorably both owner and the David City Banner-Press . . .

However, anyone viewing the sign on a Buffalo County farm boundary might conclude that the owner did not feel especially charitable toward hunters. "Anyone caught on these premises," emphasized the sign, "will be shot."

May Dee Stoltzman writes a column of "Chit Chat" chatter for the West Point Republican, and, being a woman, knows and appreciates fully how another woman reacts to a given situation, and why. A Minnesota sister-in-law was visiting them, and relating recent fishing experiences up at the lakes. Enthusiastic but not too expert at the sport, she was fishing from the pontoon, when she felt a sharp tug on her line and had hooked a big Northern. No net handy, she "did just what most women would do," Mrs. Stoltzman explained. Gave a tremendous tug on the line, and the fish went sailing over her head and landed on the bank. It's not easy, picking up a "slimy, wiggling fish," and said fish was intent on nothing quite so much as getting back into the friendly water. The distraught fisherwoman realized that nobody would believe later that she had almost caught a six-pound Northern. Concluded Mrs. Stoltzman's account: "Finally, realizing that it was up to her if she wanted to keep the fish, she settled the problem in a hurry. She sat on it."

Job Corps Plan

Lincoln, Neb.

In the November 6 Star we learn that the Chamber of Commerce in a secret meeting approved a Job Corps for Lincoln and the City Council was expected to give the idea a push on Monday. Fast work, but why the hush-hush, and how about some community expression before this plan goes further?

No matter how sincere and hopeful this program may be, the young people enrolled come from big city slums. The story so far indicates they bring many problems with them. Many citizens in Job Corps cities have taken agonizing reappraisals — doubtless also in Flagstaff, Arizona, where four Job Corpsmen recently pleaded guilty to second degree rape.

Let us give this proposal some good hard looks.

The Right-Wing

Lincoln, Neb.

I am indebted to Group Research Report for the following:

John Birch Society revenues: In 1964 they doubled, to $3.2 million. In 1965 they are expected to reach over $6 million. They are trying to raise $12 million for the 1966 congressional elections.

About the Minutemen: Just recently a cache of arms and a secret drill ground of the Minutemen, a group preparing for guerrilla warfare, was disclosed less than 50 miles from Washington, D.C.

Extremist groups are more active now than ever before. The defeat of Barry Goldwater and his backers in 1964 did not bring extremism in the U.S. to an end. Here are some recent headlines. They tell a story of growing activity in all parts of the country and all directed toward imposing an inflexible system of thought control on the nation.

The right-wing is dedicated to:

Destruction of the United Nations as an effective instrument of peace.

Discrimination against minority groups.

Barring all immigration.

Abolition of trade unions as effective instruments of protection for working people.

Vigilante action against all other groups with whom they disagree.

Domination of our schools and intimidation of the clergy.

Nullification of virtually all social legislation passed in the last 30 years.

Questioning the loyalty of those with whom they disagree.

All of these objectives are hidden beneath a cloak of patriotism and "pure" Americanism.

The right-wing extremists are supported by some of the wealthiest individuals in the world and some of the largest corporations in the country. They take in about $30 million a year.

A lot of cheer could be put into communications from our government

"If the above mentioned mail is not called for within 10 days . . ."

(Change that to, "We've got it. Come and get it.")

"Are you (or the persons with you) bringing from overseas more than one quart of spirits or more than 200 cigarettes . . ." (Come home. All is forgiven.)

"The giving of false information is punishable by not less than . . . " (Oh, oh.)

No matter how sticky the glue on the stamp, it's togetherness that counts.

Galva, Kan. (UPI) — Ronnie Jantz collected 1,633 empty soft drink bottles in two years, saved $48.99 and used it with his old bike for a trade on a new one.

During the two years, Ronnie, 12, added 3,352 miles to the odometer on his old bicycle and wore out two sets of tires. His daily searches sometimes took him 35 miles. He got 3 cents for each bottle.

Expect Decision Soon On Controversial Beer License Bid

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners are expected to make a decision Friday on whether or not to recommend issuance of a retail beer license to Bob Lear for is steak house on Highway 77 northeast of Lincoln.

The controversial application apparently poses a problem of whether issuing such a license could start a precedent of making money by selling licenses due to the limited number granted by the county.

Objectors intimated, although they did not state the problem in so many words, that Lear might sell this license in two or three years at a considerable profit.

The Beer Retailers Assn. of Lancaster County objected at the public hearing before the county board Tuesday on grounds that Lear had sold his on-sale license to Eugene Clare for his Little Bohemia operation on Cornhusker Highway.

Clare told The Star he paid Lear $20,000 in 1961 for the license and some fixtures.

He said he thought it was rather unfair for the county to recommend that Lear be granted a license when in 1961 the board had recommended denial of Clare's application and he was forced to pay Lear the $20,000 in order to go in the retail on-sale beer business.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan asked Lear at the hearing about his future plans concerning such a license if it were granted.

Lear's response was that he had no plans for moving or selling his license were it to be granted, but that he had not planned to apply for the licenses had the law not changed and forced him to do so.

Lear's attorney, Rollin Bailey, claimed at the hearing that Lear was merely trying to comply with the new law so he could continue operating his business which has been a spiking or set-up operation since its opening Jan. 1, 1965.

Attorney Mark Buchholz, representing the beer retailers, contended that Lear is seeking more than he had, and that a bottle club license permits serving beer to members and his organization was not objecting to Lear's bottle club license application.

Lear also applied for a bottle club license for his establishment as required under the provisions of LB334 which makes spiking establishments illegal and requires them to obtain a bottle club license in order for patrons to consume alcoholic liquor on the premises.

The County Board recommended approval of the application for both Lear and Earl LaChapelle of the Kraal Club—the first operators of spiking establishments to apply for a bottle club license under the new law which goes into effect Nov. 18.

Probers Still Can't Solve Blackout

Washington (UPI)—Federal investigators today eliminated the possibility that a single mechanical breakdown triggered the huge, Northeastern power failure last Tuesday.

Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler said, "The explanation of this situation is not an obvious one. The breakdown is not traceable to any unit."

The investigation was ordered by President Johnson to check the causes of the blackout and come up with ways to prevent it happening again if possible.

Swidler said that he would not be able to get a report on the cause to Johnson Friday and did not know yet whether he could get the information to him on Saturday.

After an all-day session, Swidler's federal investigating team decided to go on into the evening in order to examine technical data of six power suppliers.

All six are major suppliers of the "backbone" transmission line which is the major line supplying power to New York City and then to New England.

One power company source said that to the best of his knowledge, none of the power companies in the affected northeast area required any repairs of equipment, such as to generators or towers.

He theorized that the cause might have been in the complex system of automation which controls the intricate pooling of power in the north. Rather than specific failure, he guessed that the system simply was not performing as it should.

Three power suppliers to the Northeast pool—Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., Rochester Gas and Electric Corp., and the New York State Power Authority — told the inquiry that the cause of failure in their systems was "instability." Simply put, this means a power loss.

African Nations Hostile To U.N. Admission Of Red China

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The hostility of some African nations toward Peking gave additional strength Thursday to the efforts of the United States to keep the Chinese Communists out of the United Nations.

In the continuing debate in the U.N General Assembly Amadou Hassane of Niger assailed Peking as an outlaw regime seeking to spread subversion and revolution throughout the African continent.

Niger is a former French territory. Madagascar, also formerly French, spoke out against the Chinese Communists earlier in the week. Both countries maintain close ties with France, but have not gone along with President Charles de Gaulle in supporting the seating of Peking in the world organization.

They were opposed also to the French contention that a simple majority is sufficient in the assembly to admit the Chinese Communists and expel the Chinese Nationalists.

France's stand is a complete reversal from earlier years, when it voted both against Peking and the simple majority proposal. The change in the French attitude came last year when Paris extended diplomatic recognition to Peking.

Hassane said the Chinese Communists had undertaken "nefarious activities" throughout the world, and did not recognize any revolution other than that conceived by their leaders through violence.

He said Niger knew only one China, that represented in the United Nations by the Chinese Nationalists.

Opposition to Peking was voiced also by Sukich Nimmanheminda of Thailand, who said that his country had been threatened by guerrilla warfare by a representative of the Peking regime. He said Peking had put forth conditions for entry into the United Nations that were "unreasonable, unusual, and uncalled for."

A showdown vote could come late Friday or early next week.

British Labor Party Boosts Commons Majority To 2

Erith, England (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government won a special election Thursday night and increased its House of Commons majority to two votes.

Laborite James Wellbeloved had 21,835 votes to 14,763 for Conservative David Madel and 2,823 for the Liberal Party's Stanley Vince.

Compared with the general election last year, both Labor and Conservative candidates took votes from the middle-road Liberals.

But Labor's margin of 7,072 over the Conservative was at least 2,000 more than most observers had predicted.

The election was caused by the death of Norman Dodds, who had held the seat for Labor since World War II.

M.D.s Under 35 Ordered Up For Exams, Possible Draft

Washington (AP) — Physicians under 35 are being ordered up for physical examinations throughout the country for possible induction into the armed forces in January.

The Selective Service orders are going out to fill a special Defense Department call for 1,529 physicians, 350 dentists and 100 veterinarians to go on duty early in the new year.

Fatherhood does not qualify them for deferment, even though fathers generally are being deferred in other occupations.

A 1963 presidential order which provided deferment for fathers under the general draft specifically excepted physicians, dentists and veternarians.

A Selective Service spokesman said Thursday the exception is based in part at least on the philosophy that these specialists are offered commissions, rather than being inducted at the lowest pay grades, and thus are better able to care for dependents.

Under current regulations only single men and childless married men between 19 and 26 are being drafted. Fathers generally are being classified 3A.

The spokesman said it is believed there are few physicians under 26 left who have unfilled draft obligations.

Therefore, local draft boards have been requested to review the status of all physicians up to 35 years of age who had been put in classes 1A, 1AO, 2A, 2S, and 3A and complete the processing by Dec. 1.

The number of men below 35 that end up classified 1A will determine how high in the age bracket the call extends, the spokesman said.

JOHNSON SCORES VICTORY OVER LUCI'S ENGAGEMENT

Johnson City, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson has won the day—temporarily at least—in getting his daughter Luci and her boy friend, Pat Nugent, to postpone plans for an engagement, White House friends said Thursday.

They said the President's 18-year-old daughter and her blond, handsome boy friend from Waukegan, Ill., were given some paternal advice to hold off on wedding plans, during a family conference at the LBJ Ranch two weekends ago.

Black-haired blue-eyed Luci, a sparkling teen-ager who prefers to be considered a "young adult" and the 22-year-old Nugent flew to the ranch Oct. 29 to win her father's consent for an engagement announcement.

It was not news to Johnson. He knew of their wishes. But they apparently struck out after a "Dutch Uncle" talk with the President.

$108.75 Weekly Record

Washington (UPI) — The average factory workers' weekly pay climbed to a record high $108.75 in October, the Labor Department reported.

Overtime hours, usually paid for at premium rates, increased to an average 3.9 per man per week and reached the highest level since records were kept starting in 1956.

The department also said the number of nonfarm workers on U.S. payrolls climbed by 22,000 to 61,833,000 last month.

This represented an advance of 2.7 million jobs from October 1964. It was the biggest year-to-year gain in a decade even after allowing for an auto strike last fall that lowered the 1964 figure.

The department said this showed strength in the economy even though a decline in production has lowered employment in the steel industry for three months in a row.

The job picture improved in all major industries except transportation and public utilities, the detailed figures for October showed.

Employment in primary metals fell by 30,000 more than expected, however, as steel inventories were reduced following the labor-management contract agreement without a steel strike.

Judge Denies Defense Move In Sioux City

Sioux City, Ia. (UPI) — Defense attorney Stanley Fleischman moved to dismiss an indictment against one of 11 individuals involved in an obscenity trial here, but U.S. District Judge William Hanson turned him down.

Four California publishing companies and 11 individuals are charged with mailing and distributing obscene literature in Iowa in violation of federal law.

Los Angeles postal inspector Donald Schoof took the stand for the sixth day, his fifth under cross-examination. Schoof was instrumental in obtaining the indictments against the defendants.

Fleischman moved to dismiss the indictments on the grounds of "impropriety" in the grand jury that handed down the indictments.

Schoof told the court that he was instructed by U.S. Atty. Donald O'Brien to go before the grand jury last February in Fort Dodge and "informally" tell jury members what he knew about nudism and California nudist camps. Schoof said the court reporter was not present at the time.

Fleischman accused O'Brien of "deliberately poisoning the grand jury for the sole purpose of getting an indictment" and asked the judge to dismiss it because there was no court reporter present to hear Schoof's "informal" testimony.

"There is nothing in the law providing for informal discussions or bull sessions for a grand jury," Fleischman said.

O'Brien replied that there was nothing in the law that said that testimony had to be transcribed by a court reporter.

Machinists Return To Gemini Jobs

St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—Production of Gemini space capsules planes was to resume late Thursday after 17,000 machinists ended their four-day wildcat strike at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. here.

About 10,000 members of the International Association of Machinists (AFL-CIO) voted overwhelmingly by voice vote to return to their jobs. Company officials said the plant was open.

The machinists voted Sunday 8,568 to 174 to strike when their contract expired that midnight. But union business agent George Heine said he had granted McDonnell, a 10-day contract extension. He walked from the meeting under police escort.

Used In Viet Nam

Picket lines went up at midnight and production stopped on the fighter planes used in Viet Nam and on the last five capsules in the Gemini space program.

The IAM refused to sanction the strike and union-company negotiations for a new contract continued with federal mediators.

Thursday, union members expressed dissatisfaction with Heine and other union leaders. Each time Heine's name was mentioned, loud boos chorused from the crowd jammed into an auto race track north of St. Louis.

Strikers were told the IAM would authorize a strike starting Nov. 18 if a new contract is not accepted by midnight Nov. 17. At issue are wages and fringe benefits.

To Pick Agent

They also were told they could nominate delegates Saturday to a February meeting at which a new business agent for IAM District 9 would be elected. McDonnell machinists are members of the largest lodge in the district and are expected to have the controlling vote.

The machinists had said their strike was as much against the IAM and its leaders as against McDonnell.

Strikers are seeking a 20-cent-an-hour wage increase each of the next three years. McDonnell has offered pay hikes of six, eight and eight cents for each of those years.

Agricultural Leader Says Famine Likely

Kansas City, Mo. (AP) — A worldwide famine of incomprehensible magnitude and devastation is inevitable unless the world food output in the next 35 years is doubled, Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., said Thursday.

"People will not continue to starve quietly, and Communist China will have her eyes on them," Carlson told the 34th annual meeting of the National Reclamation Association. "She boasts that she will encircle the captalist world and this could be if more food is not produced to fight the war of hunger.

"If what I have said becomes a prophecy, the chaos that would result could make Viet Nam look like a neighborhood argument."

Carlson's speech was prepared for a luncheon.

Some 700 reclamation officials, representing 17 Western states and assorted federal agencies, were in the second day of a three-day meeting.

Carlson, a former governor of Kansas and a leading agricultural spokesman, spoke of "the impending world crisis of mass starvation."

He said the crisis is coming about "at such an amazing pace that our national attitude and agricultural policies which, for 30 years, have centered upon ways to deal with crop surpluses, must be abruptly and unmistakably changed."

Machinists Return To Gemini Jobs

St Louis, Mo (AP)—Production of Gemini space capsules planes was to resume late Thursday after 17,000 machinists ended their four-day wildcat strike at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. here

About 10,000 members of the International Association of Machinists (AFL-CIO) voted overwhelmingly by voice vote to return to their jobs. Company officials said the plant was open.

The machinists voted Sunday 8,568 to 174 to strike when their contract expired that midnight But union business agent George Heine said he had granted McDonnell, a 10-day contract extension He walked from the meeting under police escort

Used In Viet Nam

Picket lines went up at midnight and production stopped on the fighter planes used in Viet Nam and on the last five capsules in the Gemini space program

The IAM refused to sanction the strike and union-company negotiations for a new contract continued with federal mediators.

Thursday, union members expressed dissatisfaction with Heine and other union leaders Each time Heine's name was mentioned loud boos chorused from the crowd jammed into an auto race track north of St Louis

Strikers were told the IAM would authorize a strike starting Nov 18 if a new contract is not accepted by midnight Nov 17 At issue are wages and fringe benefits

To Pick Agent

They also were told they could nominate delegates Saturday to a February meeting at which a new business agent for IAM District 9 would be elected McDonnell machinists are members of the largest lodge in the district and are expected to have the controlling vote

The machinists had said their strike was as much against the IAM and its leaders as against McDonnell.

Strikers are seeking a 20-cent-an-hour wage increase each of the next three years. McDonnell has offered pay hikes of six, eight and eight cents for each of those years.

Mission Teacher Enjoys Africa Stay

By GARY GRAUL
Star Staff Writer

"My wife and I believe that life's most important things consist of what you can do for the people of the world."

This statement explains why Monroe Morford, a mathematics teacher and former Lincolnite, moved to Africa with his wife and two children to serve as a teacher-missionary.

Morford, a graduate of Union College who received his M.A. from the University of Michigan, is on a three-month furlough after spending five years ni Capetown, South Africa, and one year in Kampala, Uganda.

Math Teacher

He went to Africa in the service of the Seventh Day Adventist Church after a start as a math teacher at Union College Academy and the University of Nebraska.

Though he is technically a math teacher, Morford states, "I don't teach mathematics —I teach students. Mathematics is a vehicle of contact.

"Since order is heaven's first law, mathematics is a tool of learning to think. If my students learn to think right, they will make the right decisions."

Morford is anxious to return to Uganda. He describes the people as "peace-loving" and emphasizes, "Uganda is the only African nation in recent years to achieve its independence without a major upheaval."

Native Landowners

Part of the reason for lack of trouble in Uganda, Morford indicates, is the fact that all the land-owners are native Africans. He says there are actually more Indians than Europeans in the nation.

"A lot of what people thnik about Africa is so distorted," he says. "Even I expected to see wild animals and savages everywhere.

"But Kumpala is a modern town. You can buy anything there that you can in any continental European city."

Morford has a daughter, 16, and a son, 14, who go to school in South Africa. He feels that his children have enjoyed being in Africa. The school they attend has an enrollment that is purely of European descent.

'There To Learn'

The school where he now teaches has "students from all over East Africa. They are there to learn," he added, discounting any idea of political strife.

"Everybody is required to work ten hours per week as part of their education. They do construction and maintenance work and farming. We raise virtually all of our own food on the school farm."

"Working like this reminds the students that they learn to serve," he continued. Morford himself does all the schools electrical maintenance and plumbing.

The school is very inexpensive. Students pay about $5.25 a month for room and board. A $67 fee covers tuition, books, study materials, uniforms, and all other incidental expenses.

Morford sums up his satisfaction with his work by saying, "It's nice working with young people who are eager to learn."

Counterrevolutionary Cops To Take On Guard

Ellicott City, Md. (AP) — Comes the revolution, Howard County is going to be ready.

The county has half its police force training three hours a week at counterinsurrection. That's 18 men. Next spring, they're going to take on the Maryland National Guard.

It's mainly the idea of Robert O. Mathews, 28, a sergeant on the county force who says he feels that "one of the biggest threats in the free world is internal insurrection."

Washington Dorm

Howard County, which had a population of 36,000 in the 1960 census, is a suburban dormitory area largely inhabited by people working for the federal government in Washington.

The county uniformed force numbers 36 men, and Sgt. Mathews has formed three six-man special units for countering insurrection.

One squad is called the Bush Fighters. Its armament includes four shotguns, one submachine gun, a tear gas launcher and a police dog. The other two units are rifle teams, but their commanders carry tommy guns, too.

Mathews said some organizations in America already are advocating violence. "We know who they are," he told an interviewer. "I'm not going to name them."

Prime Target?

Does he have reason to believe that Howard County would be singled out for special attention by these threatening elements?

"No, not any more than any other place," he replied.

The counterrevolutionary cops have had three months of training so far.

Their big moment (assuming no revolutions break out meanwhile) will come next spring when units of the Maryland National Guard will launch a mock invasion of Howard County as a part of annual maneuvers.

"The National Guard won't tell us how many men they are going to use," said Sgt. Mathews, "but they are instructing their invaders to surrender without resistance if they are apprehended by one of our units."

FBI Agents Holding Possible Schrier's Robbery Suspect

FBI agents are holding a man who was very possibly involved in the Schrier Market armed robbery of September 28th in which about $700 was reported taken. The man was picked up in Ottumwa, Iowa, Tuesday.

Informed sources said the FBI agents picked up the man, Harlan Lee Harmon of Utah, on other charges. The possible Schrier Market involvement was learned during FBI questioning of Harmon and female companion with him.

On September 30th a lone gunman took some $8,300 from a bank at Elkhorn. The description of the Elkhorn bank robber and the Schrier Market bandit were very similar. Investigations will be made to determine if Harmon is responsible for the bank robbery also.

The apparent connection between Harmon and the Lincoln holdup came when FBI agents questioned Harmon's companion and found a pistol which seemed to link him with the Schrier Market robbery.

Authorities in Lincoln do not know whether he is a prison escapee or not.

Lincoln police may decide to send victims of the Lincoln robbery to identify the suspect.

Mother Sets Self Ablaze

South Bend, Ind. (AP) — A young mother despondent over casualty reports from Viet Nam and the accidental death of her baby set herself ablaze in front of her home.

The would-be victim of self-immolation was Mrs. Celene Jankowski, 24. She suffered third-degree burns over much of her upper body, but doctors said they expected her to live.

Mrs. Jankowski was the fourth American this year to attempt suicide by burning — a method borrowed from Vietnamese Buddhists — as a protest against the fighting in the Far East. A police spokesman said he understood one of her brothers was killed in the Korean War.

The other three human torches all succeeded in killing themselves.

British Colonial Governor Dies

London (AP) — Sir Patrick Renison, 54, one of Britain's top colonial administrators, died Thursday. Death followed an operation, the nature of which was not disclosed.

Renison had served in Ceylon, Trinidad and Todago, and as governor and commander-in-chief in British Honduras, British Guiana and Kenya. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

Expectant Mother To Get Award

. . . For Saving Tot

Hastings — An expectant mother who saved the life of a three-year-old who had fallen into a swimming pool Thursday was selected to receive the first "Nebraska Hero's Award."

She is Mrs. Richard (Beverly) Snowden, 29, of Omaha.

The announcement was made by Edward Vance of Odell, president of the Nebraska Funeral Directors' Association, sponsor of the citation.

Vance said that Mrs. Snowden will receive a certificate and medal at the state funeral directors convention in April.

Heard Shouting

Last spring, Mrs. Snowden heard children playing outside an apartment house where she resides. Later, it turned to shouting.

The housewife looked, saw something floating near the edge of a nearby swimming pool.

She ran out to the pool and found Ann Brown floating in about 10 feet of water. She jerked the child from the pool and kept tipping her back and forth to drain water from her lungs and stomach.

"I called for help," Mrs. Snowden said. "A man came by and said he would call the rescue squad. A lady came out and told me to try mouth-to-mouth respiration. I did, and the child soon twitched and started breathing."

Vance said Mrs. Snowden's act represents "heroism at its best."

Expectant Mother To Get Award

. . . For Saving Tot

Hastings — An expectant mother who saved the life of a three-year-old who had fallen into a swimming pool Thursday was selected to receive the first "Nebraska Hero's Award."

She is Mrs. Richard (Beverly) Snowden, 29, of Omaha.

The announcement was made by Edward Vance of Odell, president of the Nebraska Funeral Directors' Association, sponsor of the citation.

Vance said that Mrs. Snowden will receive a certificate and medal at the state funeral directors convention in April.

Heard Shouting

Last spring, Mrs. Snowden heard children playing outside an apartment house where she resides. Later, it turned to shouting.

The housewife looked, saw something floating near the edge of a nearby swimming pool.

She ran out to the pool and found Ann Brown floating in about 10 feet of water. She jerked the child from the pool and kept tipping her back and forth to drain water from her lungs and stomach.

"I called for help," Mrs. Snowden said. "A man came by and said he would call the rescue squad. A lady came out and told me to try mouth-to-mouth respiration. I did, and the child soon twitched and started breathing."

Vance said Mrs. Snowden's act represents "heroism at its best."

U.S. Army Reports 2 Specialists Missing

. . . COULD SET ESPIONAGE IN EUROPE BACK 10 YEARS

Heidelberg, Germany (AP) — Two U.S. Army specialists based in West Germany—one a nuclear technician and the other in intelligence work—were reported Thursday to have been missing for weeks.

A spokesman for Army headquarters here said the nuclear technician, Chief Warrant Officer Spencer D. Harris Jr., of Penn Yan, N.Y., vanished on home leave in September after delivering classified material to an Army depot in New York state.

The Overseas Weekly, a private newspaper published in Heidelberg for American forces, said Sgt. 1. C. Glen R. Rohrer, 44, of West Allis, Wis., disappeared after leaving his intelligence unit in Frankfurt Aug. 16 and that the case set back Army espionage in Europe 5 to 10 years.

Seneca Depot

In the Harris incident, the Pentagon said the depot involved was the Seneca Army Depot. The Army reported it could not say whether the material he delivered was papers or equipment.

The spokesman said Harris, based at Pirmasens, Germany, left Aug. 25 and went on furlough after making the delivery.

The last direct word received here from him was a Washington cable Sept. 21 requesting an extension of the leave.

Due back Sept. 30, he has been posted as AWOL.

Visit

Harris' parents live in Fredericksburg, Va., where he was graduated from high school. His mother said he had come to Fredericksburg on Labor Day for a visit. She said he left Sept. 28 and she has not heard from him since.

A widely circulated German newspaper, Bild Zeitung, said American security agents around the world have been alerted to look for him. It said Harris was fully informed on the location and plans for all U.S. nuclear weapons stored in Germany and knew of nuclear tactics to be used in case of emergency.

American authorities in Bonn had no comment.

Rohrer is the second person from his intelligence unit to disappear in the last five years. A Polish-born double agent, Vladimir Sloboda, defected to the Communists in 1960.

20 Years

The sergeant was only four months short of completing 20 years in the Army. He left his wife and son in Wisconsin.

The Overseas Weekly said Rohrer's car was found abandoned near Weiden, about 12 miles from Czechoslovakia, and bloodhounds followed his scent to the frontier.

His intelligence sources were quoted as saying he crossed with top secret information the names of hundreds of Western agents and contacts operating in the communist sphere. The weekly said that, as a result, many operatives have been pulled back into the West.

The article quoted one intelligence official a ssaying: "Rohrer cost us at least 5 to 10 years of hard work. It'll take a long time to replace the agents and contacts that he blew to the other side."

The Overseas Weekly said the 902nd Intelligence Corps Group in Washington checked on Rohrer's activity as a student in 1955-56 at the Army Language School in Monterey, Calif., and he was believed to have been recruited by a communist infiltrator who taught at the school.

Planes Disrupt Viet Cong Ambush

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes disrupted the Viet Cong ambush of a government detachment 35 miles east of Saigon Thursday and a military spokesman said 130 of the Red guerrillas were killed.

The fight developed five miles west of Baria on the Saigon-Vung Tau highway, the road on which the Viet Cong kidnaped four U.S. Air Force servicemen Oct. 31.

The spokesman said the planes killed 100 of the ambushing detachment and the Vietnamese troops accounted for 30. He had no information on government casualties.

Far up the coast, a large task force of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops pressed a search-and destroy mission in sandy, rolling country 18 miles north of Chu Lai under the command of Col. Thell Fisher of Springfield, Va.

But results of the operation, launched Wednesday from U.S. 7th Fleet landing craft, remained meager. A spokesman said two Viet Cong were killed and 18 suspects detained. No allied casualties were reported.

Allied forces in other coastal areas told of killing 14 Viet Cong and capturing 17. Spokesmen said:

—Explosion of a Viet Cong booby trap inflicted light casualties on a U.S. Marine patrol near Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. Other patrols killed two Viet Cong.

—Vietnamese troops killed nine Viet Cong and captured 16 in sweep completed Wednesday. The troops' casualties were leght.

—South Korean Marines operating near Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon, killed three Viet Cong and captured one.

U.S. Navy carriers sent 21 planes over North Viet Nam for a raid on a military storage area 65 miles south of Hanoi, the capital. Pilots said they heavily damaged railway tracks, two locomotives and four boxcars.

Mingled with this was another propaganda raid. U.S. Air Force jets dropped 340,000 leaflets over Dien Bien Phu, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochina War

Peking broadcast another blast at the Soviet Union, this time from the Chinese Communist Party's theoretical journal, Red Flag. It said the Russians tried to end the Viet Nam War early this year "in tacit agreement and close collaboration" with President Johnson.

Linoleum Gluer Injured In Fire

Rollie Schessler, 41, of 2526 H, suffered minor burns in a house fire which erupted when fumes from a linoleum glue were ignited by the pilot light on a water heater, according to the Lincoln Fire Department.

Schessler, and a companion, were laying linoleum tile at the Max Beach residence, 3000 Straus Ct. when the blaze started.

Fire Inspector Gene Fenner said the house was considerably damaged by smoke. Fire damaged a rug, ironing board and curtains in the basement.

Schessler was treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital and released. His companion was not injured.

Latin America 'Touchy' Region

"Latin America is a touchy region, population control a touchy subject, and American dollars a touchy means to almost any end today," a Cornell University sociologist declared Thursday evening.

Speaking at a University of Nebraska Latin American Lecture, Dr. Mayone Stycos said he "chided" the U. S. three years ago for its overly sensitive position on population.

"Three years later I must congratulate our government on its remarkable revision of policy, but I must also remind it that a pendulum can swing as far in one direction as in another. "Now the danger is in too much haste; too much money; and too much 'hard sell!'" Dr. Stycos said.

New Consensus

He said that a new consensus is emerging in Latin American regarding population policy which would have been termed "unlikely" a year ago. Those attending the recent Pan American Assembly Conference in Cali, Colombia was struck with the consensus on the following recommendations:

—All nations should develop population policies as an integrated part of their policies on economic development;

—Governments should foster responsible paternity by encouraging couples to have the number of children consistent with their own ideals.

—Governments should make family planning services accessible to the people who desire them, and educate the people to their availability.

"Of course, we must not mistake words for action," Dr. Stycos said. "Nor must we assume that 'Population Centers' mean low birth rates. But if birth rates are to decline more rapidly than they did in other Western nations, national governments will have to act and the kind of consensus we have been discussing is a necessary condition for this action.

"The mainstream of intellectual opinion still believes Latin America has no population problem. Nevertheless, even among the administrative hierarchy of the church, there is increasing tolerance of discussion and action on family planning.

Combination

"It is not fertility which makes Latin America demographically outstanding — it is high fertility in combination with low mortality," Dr. Stycos said. "High birth rates in Latin America are the product of relatively early marriage and an absence of effective birth control practices," he said.

U.S. Battle Deaths Reach 1,000 In Viet Nam War

Washington (AP) — The number of U.S. battle deaths in the Viet Nam war reached more than 1,000 on Tuesday, defense sources said Thursday.

Specific individual casualty reports for Tuesday are just now arriving at the Pentagon. The names of the men in that toll have not yet been released.

The latest weekly summary of casualties, released Wednesday, showed total combat deaths stood at 987 through last Monday. Some of those names were released only Thursday after notification of nearest relatives.

Mexican War

The 1,000-plus battle deaths in the Viet Nam war places the toll within range of the 1,733 Americans who died in the Mexican War of 1846-1848.

The Viet Nam combat death roster already has gone well beyond the 385 Americans killed in the brief Spanish-American War of 1898.

U.S. combat deaths in Viet Nam date from the first casualty, an Army specialist, who was killed on Dec. 22, 1961.

U.S. deaths from Communist action have risen from that single fatality in 1961 to 31 in 1962, 77 in 1963, 146 in 1964 and at least 745 this year to date. This upward movement of fatalities has reflected the growing U.S. involvement which started in earnest in early 1962 and reached full-scale proportions this year as the United States built its forces in Viet Nam close to 150,000 men of all services.

Included

Included in the death toll are men lost in operations against North Viet Nam and in South Viet Nam.

By far, the Army has suffered the greatest number of combat deaths—584 through Wednesday's summary report. The Marines lost 237, the Air Force 99 and the Navy 67.

The total of wounded is now over 5,300, with at least 3,800 this year alone.

In addition, 391 American servicemen were listed as dead from causes other than hostile action as of last Monday.

This covers a multitude of causes including accidents of various kinds.

The Viet Nam combat death toll compares with 2,260 lost in the War of 1812, 4,435 in the Revolution, 140,414 federal soldiers slain in the Civil War, 53,402 in World War I, 291,557 in World War II, and 33,629 in the Korean War.

The Civil War also took a toll of 74,524 Confederate soldiers.

Latin America 'Touchy' Region

"Latin America is a touchy region, population control a touchy subject, and American dollars a touchy means to almost any end today," a Cornell University sociologist declared Thursday evening.

Speaking at a University of Nebraska Latin American Lecture, Dr. Mayone Stycos said he "chided" the U. S. three years ago for its overly sensitive position on population.

"Three years later I must congratulate our government on its remarkable revision of policy, but I must also remind it that a pendulum can swing as far in one direction as in another. Now the danger is in too much haste, too much money, and too much 'hard sell'" Dr. Stycos said.

New Consensus

He said that a new consensus is emerging in Latin American regarding population policy which would have been termed "unlikely" a year ago. Those attending the recent Pan American Assembly Conference in Cali, Colombia was struck with the consensus on the following recommendations:

—All nations should develop population policies as an integrated part of their policies on economic development;

—Governments should foster responsible paternity by encouraging couples to have the number of children consistent with their own ideals.

—Governments should make family planning services accessible to the people who desire them, and educate the people to their availability.

"Of course, we must not mistake words for action," Dr. Stycos said. "Nor must we assume that 'Population Centers' mean low birth rates. But if birth rates are to decline more rapidly than they did in other Western nations, national governments will have to act and the kind of consensus we have been discussing is a necessary condition for this action.

"The mainstream of intellectual opinion still believes Latin America has no population problem. Nevertheless, even among the administrative hierarchy of the church, there is increasing tolerance of discussion and action on family planning.

Combination

"It is not fertility which makes Latin America demographically outstanding — it is high fertility in combination with low mortality," Dr. Stycos said. "High birth rates in Latin America are the product of relatively early marriage and an absence of effective birth control practices," he said.

U.S. Battle Deaths Reach 1,000 In Viet Nam War

Washington (AP) — The number of U.S. battle deaths in the Viet Nam war reached more than 1,000 on Tuesday, defense sources said Thursday.

Specific individual casualty reports for Tuesday are just now arriving at the Pentagon. The names of the men in that toll have not yet been released.

The latest weekly summary of casualties, released Wednesday, showed total combat deaths stood at 987 through last Monday. Some of those names were released only Thursday after notification of nearest relatives.

Mexican War

The 1,000-plus battle deaths in the Viet Nam war places the toll within range of the 1,733 Americans who died in the Mexican War of 1846-1848.

The Viet Nam combat death roster already has gone well beyond the 385 Americans killed in the brief Spanish-American War of 1898.

U.S. combat deaths in Viet Nam date from the first casualty, an Army specialist, who was killed on Dec. 22, 1961.

U.S. deaths from Communist action have risen from that single fatality in 1961 to 31 in 1962, 77 in 1963, 146 in 1964 and at least 745 this year to date. This upward movement of fatalities has reflected the growing U.S. involvement which started in earnest in early 1962 and reached full-scale proportions this year as the United States built its forces in Viet Nam close to 150,000 men of all services.

Included

Included in the death toll are men lost in operations against North Viet Nam and in South Viet Nam.

By far, the Army has suffered the greatest number of combat deaths—584 through Wednesday's summary report. The Marines lost 237, the Air Force 99 and the Navy 67.

The total of wounded is now over 5,300, with at least 3,800 this year alone.

In addition, 391 American servicemen were listed as dead from causes other than hostile action as of last Monday.

This covers a multitude of causes including accidents of various kinds.

The Viet Nam combat death toll compares with 2,260 lost in the War of 1812, 4,435 in the Revolution, 140,414 federal soldiers slain in the Civil War, 53,402 in World War I, 291,557 in World War II, and 33,629 in the Korean War.

The Civil War also took a toll of 74,524 Confederate soldiers.

THEY'RE on the move—in suburban areas

Old Man Winter is knocking on the door, and Lincoln residents refuse to do more than let him manage to get his cold, drizzley foot inside.

And in order to stave off the chills, the population has taken to moving around. So today's suburban news is, of course, moving-around-news. Most of the social activity is being saved for the coming holidays.

SOUTH BROOK SUMMIT

The tables were turned on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vosta as Mrs. Vosta's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lehr of Ashland, and her cousin, Miss Ann Hammond, motored to Lincoln Thursday to spend the day.

Last Sunday the Vostas and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Bice, had gone to Ashland to spend the day with the Lehrs. Also visiting with their great-grandparents on Sunday were the two young Bices, Steven and Karen.

EASTBOROUGH

Visiting in town on Thursday was Mrs. Mary Ludwig, who was the overnight houseguest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Neal. The visitor returned to her home in Roseland Friday.

John Wilde, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wilde left this morning for the west coast where he will embark for overseas duty. John had been home on furlough for the last 3 weeks. He is a paratrooper in the army.

MAPLE VILLAGE

The move from Mankato, Minn. to Lincoln was a short and happy one for Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Langdon and their daughters, Rhonda and Brenda. The Langdons were Lincoln residents four years ago, and hometowns for Mr. and Mrs. Langdon are Fairmont and Brock, respectively. In fact, Mr. Langdon has returned to his old alma mater, the University of Nebraska, to teach.

The returnees have been in the city since September, but have been waiting for their new home to be completed. Their new Maple Village address is 1210 Cottonwood.

One of the more unusual clubs around the city will meet this evening. The knitting club meeting will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Don Dobrowsky. This club was formed when the Chestnut Lane neighborhood first was completed two years ago. Since then once a month the 10 members get together for a little chatting, refreshments and, of course, some knitting.

There's some more moving news in this suburban area. Leaving their 8127 So. Cherrywood address and now calling 4945 Colfax their home are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Roush. The Roushs, who have resided in Lincoln for two years, have three sons, Jimmy, 14, Larry, 10, and John, 7. Also part of the family is Susie—the dog, part Pomeranian, part Cocker Spanial.

TOOK the play-off honors

It was play-off day on Thursday for 12 feminine bridge players. The play-off closed the Lincoln Symphony Guild's bridge project for the current season — but January will find another bridge project underway. The proceeds from these bridge games go to the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra.

Thursday's 12 players were the winners of season play in each of the six leagues, and the play-off winners were Mrs. Gilbert Duling and Mrs. John P. Miller. Mrs. Miller, by the way, was substituting for Mrs. Harvey Swenson.

TALK

New York City and its environs are filled with former Lincoln residents but our story this morning is about Mr. and Mrs. Myers (Bud) Cather who now reside in New Canaan, Conn.

Last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Cather were invited for dinner and the theater by some of their Manhattan friends. Mrs. Cather drove in from New Canaan to join Mr. Cather, and since they planned to remain in the city overnight, they made reservations at one of the hotels, and were given rooms on the 20th floor. Then, of course, came the blackout.

Some how or other Mr. and Mrs. Cather managed to keep their dinner engagement, and with the aid of candles everything went well. No theater, naturally—so late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Cather went to their hotel, and climbed their way up 20 flights of stairs with one, flickering candle.

* * *

We have news of a fun party—and it is on the calendar for Saturday evening, Nov. 20—

As a matter of fact the party is sort of a tradition with eight Beatrice couples, and nine Lincoln couples. One year there is a party in Lincoln—and the next year the festivities are in Beatrice.

This year Beatrice does the honors—and the hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. William Eyth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Penner, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Beardmore, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Beardmore, Mr. and Mrs. William Cook, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tremain.

The guests from Lincoln will include Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. O'Shea, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Druliner, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. William Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meginnis and Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Spangler, Jr.

The party blueprint calls for an hors d'oeuvres party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Beardmore after which the hosts, hostesses and their guests will go on to the Beatrice Country Club for dinner and dancing.

Concert

The first concert of the season sponsored by the Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music will be held Friday evening when the Almadeus Quartet of London will present a program at the Sheldon Gallery on the University of Nebraska campus.

The 8 o'clock concert will be followed by a reception for the members of the quartet and the audience

ABBY

the ashes he leaves could be his own

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My father makes his home with us. He is 82 and getting senile. He can remember what happened 75 years ago, but he forgets what you told him five minutes ago. He has always been a habitual cigarette smoker, and since that is his only pleasure in life we are not going to ask him to give it up. But here's the problem:

He has burnt about a dozen holes in the carpet beside his bed. He has also burnt about 40 holes in the night stand table. He has set the mattress on fire twice and there are cigarette holes in all his pajamas and his bathrobe, too. He will be the death of me yet. What can I do? I can't stand and watch him all day.

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: He could not only be the DEATH OF YOU—he could be the death of himself and everyone in the house. Someone must keep control of the cigarettes and matches and stay with him while he smokes. Otherwise, the ashes he leaves could be his own.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am the friend of a girl who baby-sits for a family that is quite large. When she gets there she puts the kids to bed and then she does the dishes and straightens up the house. I say she's getting paid to baby-sit, not to do housework, and if she cleans the house she should get paid extra. She says she cleans the house because she LIKES to, nobody ASKS her to. She says she is trying to take a load off the mother's back. Now she's a sweet kid for wanting to help, but don't you think that mother should feel like a big slob for leaving a messy house for a sitter to clean?

HATES TO CLEAN

DEAR HATES: I don't know the condition of the mother's house, her health or her conscience. But if your friend cleans the house because she wants to take a load off the mother's back, she IS a sweet kid. Now, what's your problem?

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump and North leads the six of hearts. When you play the king, it wins the trick, South playing the four. How would you now play the hand?

♠ A K 8 ♥ Q 5 2 ♦ J 10 9 ♣ A Q J 4	N W E S	♠ Q 6 3 ♥ K 7 ♦ A K 8 6 3 ♣ 10 9 8

2. You are declarer with the same hand at Three Notrump, but this time, when you play the king of hearts, South wins it with the ace and returns the ten. How would you now play the hand

1. In notrump contracts you usually try to develop tricks in your longest suit (diamonds, in the present case), but you certainly cannot afford to do this in all hands. For example, the proper play here is to attack clubs, not diamonds.

Lead the ten of clubs at trick two and finesse. If the ten loses to the king, you are certain of nine tricks consisting of three spades, a heart, two diamonds and three clubs. North cannot continue hearts without sacrificing a trick, and you can be sure of at least nine tricks against any other return.

If it turns out that South has the king of clubs, you can make certain of ten tricks by repeating the finesse.

If you were to attack diamonds instead of clubs and it developed that South had the queen, you could be defeated with a heart return through the queen.

2. The situation changes drastically when South wins the heart and returns the ten. Instead of South being the player you cannot afford to have on lead, North becomes the player to fear. He is the one with the heart length (he probably started with five of them) and he must be prevented from cashing his hearts after they are established.

Accordingly, you duck the ten of hearts at trick two and win the next heart with the queen. You then lead the jack of diamonds and finesse. You do not mind losing this trick to South because he can no longer do you any harm.

Suppose South takes the queen and returns a club. You go up with the ace and run with nine tricks. Don't try to be a hero by taking the club finesse. You might wake up in a hospital, badly bruised.

Of course, it is possible that when South takes the queen of diamonds he will have a heart to return. This is not something to really worry about because, if that is the case, the hearts were originally divided 4-4 and you will still make three notrump.

Matter Of Points

The four top-rated teams in both Associated Press and United Press International football polls appear to be facing considerably less than top-flight opposition this week and for all four it's more a matter of by how much rather than a question of winning or losing.

Arkansas, rated second with Associated Press and third with UPI, would appear to face the strongest opposition in Southern Methodist. The Dallas team has played its best this season against the toughest foes.

SMU tied Purdue the week after the Boilermakers upset Notre Dame and they defeated Texas, 31-14, two weeks ago. SMU has only two losses, 42-0, to Illinois and, 26-24, to Texas Tech.

Nebraska, Michigan State and Notre Dame, meanwhile face slightly less than top-caliber opposition. Michigan State goes against Indiana, a team that has lost six games with wins only over Kansas State and Iowa.

Notre Dame meets a North Carolina team that has a 4-4 mark with wins over Ohio State, North Carolina State, Maryland and Clemson and losses to Michigan, Virginia, Wake Forest and Georgia.

Nebraska's foe, Oklahoma State, started strong with good performances in losing to Arkansas, 28-14, and Missouri, 13-0, before whipping Tulsa, 17-14, in its first three games.

But since then, things have gone from bad to worse at Stillwater with four straight losses to Texas Tech, Kansas, Colorado and Iowa State. The Huskers figure to make it five in a row for the Cowboys: NEBRASKA 34, Oklahoma State 7.

Other Big Eight Games

MISSOURI 21, Oklahoma 7 . . . The Tigers wipe out Oklahoma as a Big Eight title threat, but maintain their own slim hopes of tying Nebraska should the Huskers falter on Thanksgiving Day.

COLORADO 31, Kansas 7 . . . The Jayhawks looked like one of the worst teams ever to appear at Memorial Stadium last week and they aren't likely to look much better at Boulder.

IOWA STATE 21, Kansas State 0 . . . The Cyclones reach the .500 mark in the conference against a badly beaten Wildcat squad.

Husker 'Weakness' Turns Into Strong Point

. . . OFFENSIVE LINE UNSUNG HEROES OF 1965 RUSHING SUCCESS

When historians write the story of the 1965 Nebraska football, they'll have to spend a lot of time on the unsung heroes.

Currently called only the "offensive line," these surprising Cornhuskers deserve to be known as the swingers who created the Scarlet A-Go-Go.

Prior to the season the chief problem spot for coach Devaney and his staff was the offensive line.

Going into the Kansas game, Nebraska led the nation in rushing offense and were second in total offense. They promptly hung 419 yards of rushing and a 510 total on the shell-shocked Jayhawks en route to a 42-6 breeze.

"I never thought any team could do that to us," mused KU coach Jack Mitchell.

"Nebraska has to be No. 1. Why, they may rank with the all-time great teams that I've competed against."

"Both Mike and Carl do a great job of teaching blocking and inspiring desire for excellence," Devaney says.

LA VERNE ALLERS

KELLY PETERSEN

JIM OSBERG

JIM BROWN

DENNIS CARLSON

"You've got to give credit to boys like Dennis Carlson, Jim Brown, LaVerne Allers, Kelly Petersen and Jim Osberg," Selmer said. "Carlson was the only veteran we had, and they've all worked together with a great deal of pride to get the job done. They maybe don't all have the great ability that was present on the 1963 team with Bob Brown and Lloyd Voss, but they have played well over 100% in the effort department to become a great line."

In eight games the Huskers have rushed for 2,299 yards and passed for 1,033 for a 3,332 total and a 416.5 average.

Not only has the line been blowing giant holes in enemy defenses, the Scarlet backs have been devastating.

"We demand a great deal of blocking from our backs," Corgan said. "Not only is it effective in moving the ball, it does a great deal for our pride and the psychology of the game. All our backs know that when they carry the ball one of their buddies will be blocking like heck for him—and, in turn, he's supposed to block like heck for his buddy when he doesn't have the ball."

With two games remaining, the Husker total offense average of 416.5 is ahead of the NU record pace of 407.3 set by All-America Bobby Reynolds & Co., back in 1950.

So potent has the Nebraska running game been that no less than seven backs have logged from 184 yards to 553. The leader is Frankie Solich, the 158-pound fullback, who added insult to injury against the Jayhawks by plowing for two yards on a fourth-and-one situation from the NU 12.

Behind him is Lighthorse Harry Wilson (417), Ron Kirkland (327), Fred Duda (274), Charlie (Choo-Choo) Winters (195), Ben Gregory (186) and Pete Tatman (184).

"If there's one real key, or one real surprise about our team this year," coach Devaney said, "it is the great play of our offensive line. Both Carlson and Brown, for example, have been playing as well as any of our great tackles of recent years."

The Husker backs who have been tearing through giant gaps second the motion.

DIATOME STUNS FIELD

Captures $150,000 At Laurel

. . . CARVIN 2ND

Laurel, Md. (AP) — France's two entries in the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International came up with a big surprise Thursday as Diatome edged the lightly regarded Carvin in the one and one-half mile race.

Roman Brother, the favorite representing the United States, finished third with Canada's George Royal Hail to All from the United States, Argentina's Berenjenal with Canada's George Royal bringing up the rear.

Carrying the silke of Baron Guy de Rothschild and ridden by 30-year-old Jean Deforge the three year old Diatome stuck his nose in front in the final strides to edge Carvin. Carvin, owned by Jean Boutillier and ridden by Jean-Claude Desaint was another one and one quarter lengths in front of Roman Brother carrying the hopes of Lou Wolfson's Harbor View Stable. He was ridden by Braulio Baeza.

The triumph of Diatome wasn't a total surprise to the crowd 30,089 as he was rated one of France's top three year olds and never had finished out of the money. But the runner-up honors gained by Carvin caught the chilly crowd flat footed at the mutuels as he was one of the last horses to be invited to this 14th running of the International.

Diatome, the third choice behind Roman Brother and George Royal, paid $11.60, $6.60 and $4; Carvin paid $29.20 and $7.80. Roman Brother returned $3.20.

In earning $90,000 the three-year-old son of Sicambre-Dictaway stepped the distance in 2:28 1-5, the clocking was far off the track record of 2:23 4-5 set by Kelso in winning the race in 1964.

Nine Huskers Receive Mention

. . . WHITE, JETER END NOMINATIONS

Kansas City (AP)—The Midlands has a corner on the nation's great college football ends this season with three prime All-America candidates on offense and one on defense, the Associated Press Regional Board noted in its latest report.

The list begins with little Howard Twilley of Tulsa, the national scoring leader and holder of just about every national pass receiving record for one game, season and career.

Twilley, White and Jeter are seniors.

A prime defensive end candidate is Sam Harris of Colorado, a 6-4, 225-pound junior. His coach, Eddie Crowder, says he's the nation's best on defense. Harris also plays some offense. Jeter also plays some defense.

Twilley has unusually large hands, along with icy nerves. He takes a great deal of punishment, but hangs on to the ball. Against Louisville he carried a man into the end zone, then made the catch with the man on his back.

"A sure-fire All-America," said Frank Broyles, Arkansas coach, after Twilley grabbed 12 passes and scared the Razorbacks in a 20-12 loss.

Linebacker Carl McAdams of Oklahoma, tackle Walt Barnes of Nebraska and defensive back Johnny Roland of Missouri still are the leading All-America defensive candidates in the Midlands, the Board said, but only a shade ahead of tackle Bruce Van Dyke of Missouri, a two-way player.

On offense, 246-pound tackle Francis Peay of Missouri rates high.

Dennis Carlson, 229-pound Nebraska tackle, has done an outstanding blocking job in recent games and rates close to Peay on offense.

The Midlands has several outstanding backs on offense, although they are in the shadow of the rich line talent. They include quarterback Gary Lane of Missouri and Bill Anderson of Tulsa; halfback Charlie Brown of Missouri, William Harris of Colorado and Harry Wilson of Nebraska, and fullback Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State and Frank Solich of Nebraska.

The best of the other offensive interior linemen are center Dick Kasperek of Iowa State and guard La Verne Allers of Nebraska.

McAdams and the 252-pound Barnes overshadowed some good defensive linemen like Hugh McCrabb, Charley Haper and Dennis Randall of Oklahoma State, Bill Powell of Missouri and 241-pound Jerry Murphy of Nebraska.

McAdams received an unusual compliment from an official last Saturday after a typical sideline-to-sideline performance against Iowa State. Back judge Bill Schmitz approached McAdams in the dressing room, extended his hand and said:

"Are you number 51? You're a hell of a fine football player."

Roland is a smart defender, crunching tackler and an ex-Big Eight scoring champ who gives the offense a lift. He has gained 577 yards on 52 plays in all categories. Teammate Ken Boston, Hale Irwin of Colorado, Larry Wachholtz of Nebraska and Jim Grechus of K-State also rate high.

—SENIORS COULD MAKE FOOTBALL HISTORY—

Pius X Faces Iowa Power

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Seventeen seniors, members of Pius X' finest football crop, are in position to make some football history for the Thunderbolts Friday night.

Pius X, 6-3 for the season, closes its season as it travels to meet Sioux City Heelan. The Thunderbolts are winless in their gridiron series with the perennially powerful Iowa club.

Coach Vince Aldrich reports that the Thunderbolts came out of last week's heartbreaking 14-13 loss to Northeast in good physical condition.

Heelan is perhaps a bit weaker this year than in recent seasons, sporting a 4-4 record, but Aldrich isn't taking the final opponent lightly.

"They've always been tough against us," he says.

The two teams have met one common foe, Boys Town. The Cowboys, top-rated Class A club in Nebraska, met Heelan in the opening week of the season.

Heelan held the powerful Boys Town club to a 7-6 margin at halftime, then faltered in the second half and lost, 38-12.

Two weeks later the Thunderbolts dropped a 13-6 decision to Skip Palrang's Cowboys.

Chadron Wins 33-21 Battle Over Huron

Huron, S.D. (AP) — Chadron State of Nebraska took the lead on a 17-yard pass play in the fourth period and wound up its football season defeating Huron College 33 to 21 Thursday.

Huron marched 77 yards to score the first time it got possession of the ball and held a 14 to 13 lead at the half. The South Dakotans were still ahead 21 to 20 at the end of the third period.

Early in the fourth quarter Tony Schwartz hit Ed Henry on a 6-yard screen pass and Henry zipped 65 yards for the go-ahead touchdown.

It was the Chadron passing attack that kept the Eagles in business. They trailed Huron slightly in rushing yardage but made 241 yards on 17 completed passes to seven on a single good pass by Huron.

The game was played in 40 degree weather on a wind-swept field.

Kennedy To Play; Senkbeil Will Not

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney Thursday reported linebacker Mike Kennedy, slowed this week by a virus infection and groin injury, will start against Oklahoma State Saturday at Stillwater.

But he said another linebacker, Lynn Senkbeil, will not play because of a foot injury suffered in the Missouri game two weeks ago.

Devaney said junior Rick Coleman probably will start at Senkbeil's post.

Kennedy, captain of the defensive platoon, spent three days in bed this week and did not work out with the Cornhuskers until Thursday, but Devaney said the 5-9, 219-pound senior was "feeling fine" at Thursday's practice session.

"Senkbeil's foot has not come around like we'd like it to so we decided we'd better leave him home this time," Devaney said.

Safetyman and kicking specialist Larry Wachholtz also is hobbled by a foot injury, a bruised big toe on his kicking foot, but Devaney said Wachholtz will start against the Cowboys.

Devaney said he will not set the complete starting line-ups until late Friday.

Bearcats Hammer GI, 28-6

Kearney — Kearney handed Grand Island a 28-6 thrashing Thursday afternoon to give them the Big Ten Conference championship.

The Bearcats struck early, putting 14 points on the scoreboard in the first six minutes of play. A Grand Island fumble on the first play from scrimmage and a blocked punt deep in Islander territory set up the early Kearney scoring.

The Kearney offense was spear-headed by Marshall Vest, who scampered through the Islander defense for 179 yards on only 11 carries. Vest scored on runs of 24, 51 and 55 yards.

Mike Minor, a linebacker, and guard Dale Wiles collected 22 and 16 tackles respectively to bolster the Bearcats sturdy defense.

The win by Kearney gave the west a 13-8 lead in the Big Ten playoff series. The Bearcats finished the '65 campaign with a 6-3-1 mark. It was the first time Kearney had ever been in a Big Ten playoff game.

West Point Ends Laurel Win Streak

Laurel — Laurel's 28-game winning streak came to an abrupt halt Thursday afternoon as the West Point Cadets ground-out a 32-7 win here.

The resounding victory gave West Point the Husker Conference championship and a 10-0 slate for the '65 season.

Senior halfback Terry Peterson headed the Cadets' scoring parade, getting TD's on runs of 23 and 30 yards.

After giving up a first-quarter touchdown to the Bears, the West Point defense took over and shut out Laurel the rest of the way, while the offense clicked for 26 points in the second half.

The loss gave Class C the previously first-ranked Bears a 9-1 season mark and ended the longest win skein in Nebraska prep football teams.

West Point	0	6	7	19	—32

West Point—Peterson (2), 23 and 30 runs; Welding, 12 pass from Ross; Loftgren, 23 run; Reptert, 10 run. PAT—Poledna (2)

Matter Of Points

The four top-rated teams in both Associated Press and United Press International football polls appear to be facing considerably less than top-flight opposition this week and for all four it's more a matter of by how much rather than a question of winning or losing.

Arkansas, rated second with Associated Press and third with UPI, would appear to face the strongest opposition in Southern Methodist. The Dallas team has played its best this season against the toughest foes.

SMU tied Purdue the week after the Boilermakers upset Notre Dame and they defeated Texas, 31-14, two weeks ago. SMU has only two losses, 42-0, to Illinois and, 26-24, to Texas Tech.

Nebraska, Michigan State and Notre Dame, meanwhile face slightly less than top-caliber opposition. Michigan State goes against Indiana, a team that has lost six games with wins only over Kansas State and Iowa.

Notre Dame meets a North Carolina team that has a 4-4 mark with wins over Ohio State, North Carolina State, Maryland and Clemson and losses to Michigan, Virginia, Wake Forest and Georgia.

Nebraska's foe, Oklahoma State, started strong with good performances in losing to Arkansas, 28-14, and Missouri, 13-0, before whipping Tulsa, 17-14, in its first three games.

But since then, things have gone from bad to worse at Stillwater with four straight losses to Texas Tech, Kansas, Colorado and Iowa State. The Huskers figure to make it five in a row for the Cowboys: NEBRASKA 34, Oklahoma State 7.

Husker 'Weakness' Turns Into Strong Point

. . . OFFENSIVE LINE UNSUNG HEROES OF 1965 RUSHING SUCCESS

When historians write the story of the 1965 Nebraska football, they'll have to spend a lot of time on the unsung heroes.

Currently called only the "offensive line," these surprising Cornhuskers deserve to be known as the swingers who created the Scarlet A-Go-Go.

Prior to the season the chief problem spot for coach Devaney and his staff was the offensive line.

Going into the Kansas game, Nebraska led the nation in rushing offense and were second in total offense. They promptly hung 419 yards of rushing and a 510 total on the shell-shocked Jayhawks en route to a 42-6 breeze

"I never thought any team could do that to us," mused KU coach Jack Mitchell. "Nebraska has to be No. 1. Why, they may rank with the all-time great teams that I've competed against."

"Both Mike and Carl do a great job of teaching blocking and inspiring desire for excellence," Devaney says.

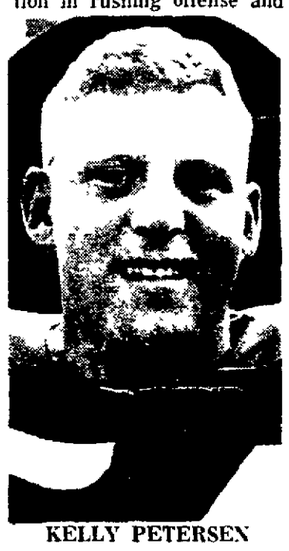
LA VERNE ALLERS



KELLY PETERSEN

JIM OSBERG

JIM BROWN

DENNIS CARLSON

"You've got to give credit to boys like Dennis Carlson, Jim Brown, LaVerne Allers, Kelly Petersen and Jim Osberg," Selmer said. "Carlson was the only veteran we had, and they've all worked together with a great deal of pride to get the job done. They maybe don't all have the great ability that was present on the 1963 team with Bob Brown and Lloyd Voss, but they have played well over 100% in the effort department to become a great line."

In eight games the Huskers have rushed for 2,299 yards and passed for 1,033 for a 3,332 total and a 416.5 average.

Not only has the line been blowing giant holes in enemy defenses, the Scarlet backs have been devastating.

"We demand a great deal of blocking from our backs," Corgan said. "Not only is it effective in moving the ball, it does a great deal for our pride and the psychology of the game. All our backs know that when they carry the ball one of their buddies will be blocking like heck for him—and, in turn, he's supposed to block like heck for his buddy when he doesn't have the ball."

With two games remaining, the Husker total offense average of 416.5 is ahead of the NU record pace of 407.3 set by All-America Bobby Reynolds & Co., back in 1950.

So potent has the Nebraska running game been that no less than seven backs have logged from 184 yards to 553. The leader is Frankie Solich, the 158-pound fullback, who added insult to injury against the Jayhawks by plowing for two yards on a fourth-and-one situation from the NU 12.

Behind him is Lighthorse Harry Wilson (417), Ron Kirkland (327), Fred Duda (274), Charlie (Choo-Choo) Winters (195), Ben Gregory (186) and Pete Tatman (184).

"If there's one real key, or one real surprise about our team this year," coach Devaney said, "it is the great play of our offensive line. Both Carlson and Brown, for example, have been playing as well as any of our great tackles of recent years."

The Husker backs who have been tearing through giant gaps second the motion.

DIATOME STUNS FIELD

Captures $150,000 At Laurel

. . . CARVIN 2ND

Laurel, Md. (AP) — France's two entries in the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International came up a big surprise Thursday as Diatome edged the lightly regarded Carvin in the one and one-half mile race.

Roman Brother, the favorite representing the United States, finished third with Canada's George Royal Hail to All from the United States, Argentina's Berenjenal with Canada's George Royal bringing up the rear.

Carrying the silke of Baron Guy de Rothschild and ridden by 30-year-old Jean Deforge the three year old Diatome stuck his nose in front in the final strides to edge Carvin. Carvin, owned by Jean Boutillier and ridden by Jean-Claude Desaint was another one and one quarter lengths in front of Roman Brother carrying the hopes of Lou Wolfson's Harbor View Stable. He was ridden by Braulio Baeza

The triumph of Diatome wasn't a total surprise to the crowd 30,089 as he was rated one of France's top three year olds and never had finished out of the money. But the runner-up honors gained by Carvin caught the chilly crowd flat footed at the mutuels as he was one of the last horses to be invited to this 14th running of the International.

Diatome, the third choice behind Roman Brother and George Royal, paid $11.60, $6.60 and $4; Carvin paid $29.20 and $7.80. Roman Brother returned $3.20.

In earning $90,000 the three-year-old son of Sicambre-Dictaway stepped the distance in 2:28 1-5, the clocking was far off the track record of 2:23 4-5 set by Kelso in winning the race in 1964.

Nine Huskers Receive Mention

. . . WHITE, JETER END NOMINATIONS

Kansas City (AP)—The Midlands has a corner on the nation's great college football ends this season with three prime All-America candidates on offense and one on defense, the Associated Press Regional Board noted in its latest report.

The list begins with little Howard Twilley of Tulsa, the national scoring leader and holder of just about every national pass receiving record for one game, season and career.

On the same level, are Nebraska's matchless combination, 6-foot-5 221-pound Freeman White and 6-3, 227-pound Tony Jeter.

Twilley, White and Jeter are seniors.

A prime defensive end candidate is Sam Harris of Colorado, a 6-4, 225-pound junior. His coach, Eddie Crowder, says he's the nation's best on defense. Harris also plays some offense. Jeter also plays some defense.

Twilley has unusually large hands, along with icy nerves. He takes a great deal of punishment, but hangs on to the ball. Against Louisville he carried a man into the end zone, then made the catch with the man on his back.

"A sure-fire All-America," said Frank Broyles, Arkansas coach, after Twilley grabbed 12 passes and scared the Razorbacks in a 20-12 loss.

Linebacker Carl McAdams of Oklahoma, tackle Walt Barnes of Nebraska and defensive back Johnny Roland of Missouri still are the leading All-America defensive candidates in the Midlands, the Board said, but only a shade ahead of tackle Bruce Van Dyke of Missouri, a two-way player.

On offense, 246-pound tackle Francis Peay of Missouri rates high.

Dennis Carlson, 229-pound Nebraska tackle, has done an outstanding blocking job in recent games and rates close to Peay on offense.

The Midlands has several outstanding backs on offense, although they are in the shadow of the rich line talent They include quarterback Gary Lane of Missouri and Bill Anderson of Tulsa; halfback Charlie Brown of Missouri, William Harris of Colorado and Harry Wilson of Nebraska, and fullback Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State and Frank Solich of Nebraska.

The best of the other offensive interior linemen are center Dick Kasperek of Iowa State and guard La Verne Allers of Nebraska.

McAdams and the 252-pound Barnes overshadowed some good defensive linemen like Hugh McCrabb, Charley Haper and Dennis Randall of Oklahoma State, Bill Powell of Missouri and 241-pound Jerry Murphy of Nebraska.

McAdams received an unusual compliment from an official last Saturday after a typical sideline-to-sideline performance against Iowa State. Back judge Bill Schmitz approached McAdams in the dressing room, extended his hand and said:

"Are you number 51? You're a hell of a fine football player."

Roland is a smart defender, crunching tackler and an ex-Big Eight scoring champ who gives the offense a lift. He has gained 577 yards on 52 plays in all categories. Teammate Ken Boston, Hale Irwin of Colorado, Larry Wachholtz of Nebraska and Jim Grechus of K-State also rate high.

—SENIORS COULD MAKE FOOTBALL HISTORY—

Pius X Faces Iowa Power

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Seventeen seniors, members of Pius X' finest football crop, are in position to make some football history for the Thunderbolts Friday night.

Pius X, 6-3 for the season, closes its season as it travels to meet Sioux City Heelan. The Thunderbolts are winless in their gridiron series with the perennially powerful Iowa club.

Coach Vince Aldrich reports that the Thunderbolts came out of last week's heartbreaking 14-13 loss to Northeast in good physical condition.

Heelan is perhaps a bit weaker this year than in recent seasons, sporting a 4-4 record, but Aldrich isn't taking the final opponent lightly.

"They've always been tough against us," he says.

The two teams have met one common foe, Boys Town. The Cowboys, top-rated Class A club in Nebraska, met Heelan in the opening week of the season.

Heelan held the powerful Boys Town club to a 7-6 margin at halftime, then faltered in the second half and lost, 38-12.

Two weeks later the Thunderbolts dropped a 13-6 decision to Skip Palrang's Cowboys.

The Bearcats struck early, putting 14 points on the scoreboard in the first six minutes of play. A Grand Island fumble on the first play from scrimmage and a blocked punt deep in Islander territory set up the early Kearney scoring.

The Kearney offense was spear-headed by Marshall Vest, who scampered through the Islander defense for 179 yards on only 11 carries. Vest scored on runs of 24, 51 and 55 yards.

Mike Minor, a linebacker, and guard Dale Wiles collected 22 and 16 tackles respectively to bolster the Bearcats sturdy defense.

Huron, S.D. (AP) — Chadron State of Nebraska took the lead on a 17-yard pass play in the fourth period and wound up its football season defeating Huron College 33 to 21 Thursday.

Huron marched 77 yards to score the first time it got possession of the ball and held a 14 to 13 lead at the half. The South Dakotans were still ahead 21 to 20 at the end of the third period

Early in the fourth quarter Tony Schwartz hit Ed Henry on a 6-yard screen pass and Henry zipped 65 yards for the go-ahead touchdown

It was the Chadron passing attack that kept the Eagles in business. They trailed Huron slightly in rushing yardage but made 241 yards on 17 completed passes to seven on a single good pass by Huron.

Kennedy To Play; Senkbeil Will Not

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney Thursday reported linebacker Mike Kennedy, slowed this week by a virus infection and groin injury, will start against Oklahoma State Saturday at Stillwater.

But he said another linebacker, Lynn Senkbeil, will not play because of a foot injury suffered in the Missouri game two weeks ago.

Devaney said junior Rick Coleman probably will start at Senkbeil's post.

Kennedy, captain of the defensive platoon, spent three days in bed this week and did not work out with the Cornhuskers until Thursday, but Devaney said the 5-9, 219-pound senior was "feeling fine" at Thursday's practice session.

"Senkbeil's foot has not come around like we'd like it to so we decided we'd better leave him home this time," Devaney said.

Safetyman and kicking specialist Larry Wachholtz also is hobbled by a foot injury, a bruised big toe on his kicking foot, but Devaney said Wachholtz will start against the Cowboys.

Devaney said he will not set the complete starting line-ups until late Friday.

The 40-man traveling squad will leave Lincoln for Stillwater at midmorning today and hold a practice session at Stillwater this afternoon.

Bob Devaney Says Wachholtz Finest

If there's a better defensive safety in the nation than Larry Wachholtz, Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney may put up a king-sized argument.

"Larry has been a tremendous player for us this year," Bob says. "He's just not an outstanding defensive player—he's so much more to us. Larry is a great punt returner, a real team leader and a tremendous placekicker. Heck, he kicked six PATs against Kansas with a big toe the size of a baseball."

And the Husker coach joked, "We're afraid to let a doctor work on his toe for fear it'll hurt his kicking ability."

The Larry Wachholtz story is impressive. Only 5-8 and 162, he's a member of Col. John Bentley's famed "Societe des Lilliputs," along with Frank Solich, the Huskers' rushing leader.

A regular safety with the 1964 Black Shirts as a sophomore, Wachholtz has maintained his fast pace again this fall. He's had 23 solo tackles and 18 assists, while intercepting four passes and breaking up three others.

In addition, he's been the national leader in punt returns most of the season with 442 yards and a 16.1 average.

Even more impressive is the fact that after eight games—the Huskers have a perfect 8-0 mark—Wachholtz is the leading scorer with 39 points. And all have come via his swollen toe.

Larry has hit 30 of 33 extra point boots, and has hit on three of six field goal tries—the biggest one coming at Missouri in the final minutes to pull out a 16-14 win for the Huskers who had dropped behind, 14-0, in the first quarter. The 30 PATs tie him with Owen Frank, who booted 30 in 1910, in the NU record book.

"There can't be many more defensive safety-men making better contributions to their team than Larry," Devaney beams.

Robinson To Quit Ring For Good

Pittsburgh, Pa. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, five-times the middleweight boxing champion, said today he is quitting the ring for good.

The veteran of 199 professional bouts announced his decision as an aftermath to Wednesday night's one-sided loss to young Joey Archer of New York in the Civic Arena here.

"I hate to go on too long campaigning for another chance," Robinson said. "I had high hopes of fighting for the championship again if I had beaten Archer. But I didn't win."

Thus, his dream of winning the championship for the sixth time has vanished in thin air after his game effort against the 27-year-old Archer.

Jones Carries Celtics To Win

Boston (AP) — Sam Jones' marksmanship carried the Boston Celtics to an 87-83 victory over the St. Louis Hawks Thursday night in a bruising defensive battle that capped a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Jones scored 30 points as the Celtics came from behind in the final period to win their fifth straight game and take possession of first place in the Eastern Division.

Jones came off the bench in the second period to start Boston from a six-point deficit to a 40-37 halftime lead. But playing Coach Richie Guerin and Cliff Hafan supplied most of the firepower as St. Louis moved into a 68-65 lead entering the final stanza.

76ers Set Down Warriors, 109-101

Boston (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain's 26 points led the Philadelphia 76ers to a 109-101 victory over the San Francisco Warriors Wednesday night in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

The win moved Philadelphia into a three-way tie with Boston and Cincinnati for the Eastern Division lead, but Boston had a chance to move in front by beating St. Louis in the second game.

Rookie Rick Barry scored 30 points for San Francisco. He got 14 of them in the first period as the Warriors sprinted to a 29-16 lead late in the quarter. But the 76ers, who were blanked for five minutes at one stretch in the opening period, whittled away at the lead and tied the score at 45-45 on a three-pointer by Chet Walker.

ABOUT THE BIGGEST RUCKUS ever made around Jack Daniel's old office was the day Mr. Jack kicked the safe.

When Lem Motlow, Jack Daniel's nephew, started at our distillery as a bookkeeper, he generally opened the safe. But one day Mr. Jack tried to open it himself, and when he couldn't he got so riled he kicked it. Folks still talk about the fuss that went up. But they can also tell you Mr. Jack was never impatient with his whiskey. A sip of Jack Daniel's, we believe, will tell you we're not either.

Bob Devaney Says Wachholtz Finest

If there's a better defensive safety in the nation than Larry Wachholtz, Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney may put up a king-sized argument.

"Larry has been a tremendous player for us this year," Bob says. "He's just not an outstanding defensive player—he's so much more to us. Larry is a great punt returner, a real team leader and a tremendous placekicker. Heck, he kicked six PATs against Kansas with a big toe the size of a baseball."

And the Husker coach joked, "We're afraid to let a doctor work on his toe for fear it'll hurt his kicking ability."

The Larry Wachholtz story is impressive. Only 5-8 and 162, he's a member of Col. John Bentley's famed "Societe des Lilliputs," along with Frank Solich, the Huskers' rushing leader.

A regular safety with the 1964 Black Shirts as a sophomore, Wachholtz has maintained his fast pace again this fall. He's had 23 solo tackles and 18 assists, while intercepting four passes and breaking up three others.

In addition, he's been the national leader in punt returns most of the season with 442 yards and a 16.1 average.

Even more impressive is the fact that after eight games—the Huskers have a perfect 8-0 mark—Wachholtz is the leading scorer with 39 points. And all have come via his swollen toe.

Larry has hit 30 of 33 extra point boots, and has hit on three of six field goal tries—the biggest one coming at Missouri in the final minutes to pull out a 16-14 win for the Huskers who had dropped behind, 14-0, in the first quarter. The 30 PATs tie him with Owen Frank, who booted 30 in 1910, in the NU record book.

"There can't be many more defensive safety-men making better contributions to their team than Larry," Devaney beams.

Robinson To Quit Ring For Good

Pittsburgh, Pa. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, five-times the middleweight boxing champion, said today he is quitting the ring for good.

The veteran of 199 professional bouts announced his decision as an aftermath to Wednesday night's one-sided loss to young Joey Archer of New York in the Civic Arena here.

"I hate to go on too long campaigning for another chance," Robinson said. "I had high hopes of fighting for the championship again if I had beaten Archer. But I didn't win."

Thus, his dream of winning the championship for the sixth time has vanished in thin air after his game effort against the 27-year-old Archer.

Jones Carries Celtics To Win

Boston (AP) — Sam Jones' marksmanship carried the Boston Celtics to an 87-83 victory over the St. Louis Hawks Thursday night in a bruising defensive battle that capped a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Jones scored 30 points as the Celtics came from behind in the final period to win their fifth straight game and take possession of first place in the Eastern Division.

Jones came off the bench in the second period to start Boston from a six-point deficit to a 40-37 halftime lead. But playing Coach Richie Guerin and Cliff Hafan supplied most of the firepower as St. Louis moved into a 68-65 lead entering the final stanza.

76ers Set Down Warriors, 109-101

Boston (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain's 26 points led the Philadelphia 76ers to a 109-101 victory over the San Francisco Warriors Wednesday night in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

The win moved Philadelphia into a three-way tie with Boston and Cincinnati for the Eastern Division lead, but Boston had a chance to move in front by beating St. Louis in the second game.

Rookie Rick Barry scored 30 points for San Francisco. He got 14 of them in the first period as the Warriors sprinted to a 29-16 lead late in the quarter. But the 76ers, who were blanked for five minutes at one stretch in the opening period, whittled away at the lead and tied the score at 45-45 on a three-pointer by Chet Walker.

ABOUT THE BIGGEST RUCKUS ever made around Jack Daniel's old office was the day Mr. Jack kicked the safe.

When Lem Motlow, Jack Daniel's nephew, started at our distillery as a bookkeeper, he generally opened the safe.

But one day Mr. Jack tried to open it himself, and when he couldn't he got so riled he kicked it. Folks still talk about the fuss that went up. But they can also tell you Mr. Jack was never impatient with his whiskey. A sip of Jack Daniel's, we believe, will tell you we're not either.

Dave Lebsack holds the total offense lead with 762 yards on 174 plays. He has gained most of his yardage through the air, hitting 55 of 104 passes for 716 yards and nine touchdowns.

Together, Rohrig and Lebsack have accounted for 1,380 yards, more than half the 2,314-yard offensive total of the Plainsmen.

Davey Farmer Saw Truce As 'Bluff'

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

"We knew an offensive was in the making and when the truce flag went up we thought it was a German bluff to get us out in the open."

That was one of the first thoughts that went through the mind of Adolph Sklener, Davey, and his buddies as they awaited orders to move out on the morning of Nov. 11, 1918.

Sklener, now 71, was one of several hundred replacements moved to the front lines in preparation for the offensive.

They replaced the battered remains of the celebrated 42nd Rainbow Division which had pushed the retreating German army as far as the Argonne Forest.

Germans' Hill

From his position in the forest, Sklener could see the bridge he would have to cross and the hill occupied by the Germans.

"I never thought about getting back home like some of the boys," he said Thursday from his bed at Veteran's Hospital in Lincoln. "Somehow, when I finally got there, I just refused to think about ever getting home."

The trouble Sklener had "finally getting there" may have saved his life. His company was delayed for three 21-day quarantine periods enroute from a training base in New Mexico to the war in Europe by a pesky case of mumps.

Another short delay in France held Sklener from front line action until three days before the armistice.

"The weather, once we got there, was terrible," Sklener reminisced. "It was cold and rainy. The trees were shattered from the shelling. About the only thing standing were walls from some well-built stone buildings.

But the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, dawned bright and clear.

Best Weather

"It was the best weather we had had in weeks," he said, recalling the bridge and the suspected truce flag.

"I remember it was about 11 in the morning and warming up a little. Then we saw some Germans coming across the river. We didn't know the armistice had been signed, but they did," the retired Davey farmer said.

"The word spread like wildfire up and down the line. We whooped and hollered," he said and added "Then I knew I would be going home."

SKLENER TALKS . . . of armistice at the front.

Automatic Street Lights Blink On Early

City street lights equipped with automatic photo-electric switches winked on in scattered parts of Lincoln about 3:30 p.m. Thursday when the level of available light was cut by heavy overcast.

Harold Hatfield of the City Light Department said the photo-electric cells turn the lamps on when the level of available light approaches 1.5 foot-candles.

They are turned off in the morning when the light level reaches about five foot-candles.

By comparison, the average well-lighted office has a light intensity ranging from 50 to 100 foot-candles while the average new home has a light level of around 15 to 20 foot candles.

"It doesn't happen often," Hatfield said, adding "however, it's not uncommon."

He noted that photo-electric cells which activate the newer lighting systems are equipped with a time-delay device to guard against an intense flash of lightning that would turn the lights out.

Davey Farmer Saw Truce As 'Bluff'

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

"We knew an offensive was in the making and when the truce flag went up we thought it was a German bluf to get us out in the open."

That was one of the first thoughts that went through the mind of Adolph Sklener, Davey, and his buddies as they awaited orders to move out on the morning of Nov. 11, 1918.

Sklener, now 71, was one of several hundred replacements moved to the front lines in preparation for the offensive.

They replaced the battered remains of the celebrated 42nd Rainbow Division which had pushed the retreating German army as far as the Argonne Forest.

Germans' Hill

From his position in the forest, Sklener could see the bridge he would have to cross and the hill occupied by the Germans.

"I never thought about getting back home like some of the boys," he said Thursday from his bed at Veteran's Hospital in Lincoln. "Somehow, when I finally got there, I just refused to think about ever getting home."

The trouble Sklener had "finally getting there" may have saved his life. His company was delayed for three 21-day quarantine periods enroute from a training base in New Mexico to the war in Europe by a pesky case of mumps.

Another short delay in France held Sklener from front line action until three days before the armistice.

"The weather, once we got there, was terrible." Sklener reminisced. "It was cold and rainy. The trees were shattered from the shelling. About the only thing standing were walls from some well-built stone buildings.

But the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, dawned bright and clear.

Best Weather

"It was the best weather we had had in weeks," he said, recalling the bridge and the suspected truce flag.

"I remember it was about 11 in the morning and warming up a little. Then we saw some Germans coming across the river. We didn't know the armistice had been signed, but they did," the retired Davey farmer said.

"The word spread like wildfire up and down the line. We whooped and hollered," he said and added "Then I knew I would be going home."

SKLENER TALKS . . . of armistice at the front.

Automatic Street Lights Blink On Early

City street lights equipped with automatic photo-electric switches winked on in scattered parts of Lincoln about 3:30 p.m. Thursday when the level of available light was cut by heavy overcast.

Harold Hatfield of the City Light Department said the photo-electric cells turn the lamps on when the level of available light approaches 1.5 foot-candles.

They are turned off in the morning when the light level reaches about five foot-candles.

By comparison, the average well-lighted office has a light intensity ranging from 50 to 100 foot-candles while the average new home has a light level of around 15 to 20 foot candles.

"It doesn't happen often," Hatfield said, adding "however, it's not uncommon."

He noted that photo-electric cells which activate the newer lighting systems are equipped with a time-delay device to guard against an intense flash of lightning that would turn the lights out.

Marcos Far Out In Lead In Philippine Presidential Race

Manila (AP)—Sen. Ferdinand E. Marcos swept to an all but unbeatable 665,433-vote lead in the Philippine presidential race Thursday and intimates of President Diosdado Macapagal privately conceded his defeat.

The president has not personally conceded although two of Manila's four morning newspapers said his cause is hopeless.

With 5.1 million votes tabulated—of more than 8 million cast—the unofficial Philippine news service tally gave Marcos, 48, standard bearer of the Nacionalista Party, 2,888,748 votes to 2,223,315 for the Liberal Party president. Marcos told a news conference the result could be reversed only by "massive and unthinkable fraud."

Marcos' running mate, Sen. Fernando Lopez, was leading his opponent Sen. Gerardo Roxas by 2,647,978 to 2,570,700.

Marcos also was carrying six of his eight senatorial candidates to evident victory.

While the unofficial count gave Marcos a commanding lead, he still had to reckon with the official tabulation of the commission on elections.

If Marcos is elected, he will have a Liberal-dominated 104-member house and at best a precariously balanced 24-seat senate. He would need to carry a full senatorial slate of eight senators to insure control.

In outlining his foreign policy to the press, Marcos said he would support sending Philippine troops to Viet Nam if he was convinced this was necessary.

He said he also is prepared to normalize relations with Malaysia, which has not been recognized by this country because of a dispute over a Philippine claim to North Borneo.

Marcos said he also would place stress on the nonmilitary role of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) and pledged that the Philippines would play a more active role in Southeast Asia developments.

NU Band's Drum Major Is Injured

A University of Nebraska student and drum major in the Nebraska band, James W. Wickless, 23, was in satisfactory condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Thursday night following a head on collision near Bennet Thursday evening.

Safety Patrol authorities said the accident occurred about two miles north of Bennet at the junction of 2 and 43.

Wickless, authorities said, was eastbound when his car was in collision with a westbound car driven by Otto Henry Paulsen, 69, of Lincoln. Paulsen was treated and released from Bryan Hospital.

Paulsen apparently went off onto the side of the road and lost control of his car, patrolmen said. Paulsen's car then came back onto the road and was sliding down the road sideways when the Wickless automobile plunged head-on into it.

Hospital sources said it was doubtful whether Wickless would be able to appear with the Nebraska band at the Oklahoma game on November 13th in Lincoln.

RAPED NEGRO GIRL

A Mississippi jury, apparently for the first time in modern history, found a white man guilty Thursday of raping a Negro girl. Sitting dejectedly in Hattiesburg Circuit Court is Norman Cannon, 19, of Sumrall, a welder. Rape is a capital offense, but the all-white jury, which deliberated 5½ hours, exercised an option and fixed punishment at life in prison. Cannon was accused of picking up the 15-year-old Negro girl at her home on the pretense of seeking a babysitter and driving her to a logging road where he raped her at the point of a yellow-handled knife.

Indian Leftists Drive Against Shastri Visit

New Delhi (AP) — Indian leftists have opened a virulent campaign against any visit by Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri to Washington for talks with President Johnson.

The leftists say a visit would be an indication Shastri is abjectly surrendering to what they say is American pressure for a settlement in the India-Pakistan quarrel.

Many other Indians, however, feel a Shastri-Johnson summit could help clear up serious irritations that have developed in U.S.-India relations because of past military aid to neighboring Pakistan and a current curtailment of military and economic aid to India.

Although Shastri refuses to say whether he will go, betting in government circles is that he will make the trip before year's end.

Inda's pro-Moscow Communists have seized on the issue as an opportunity to enhance the Soviet Union's rapidly improving image among the Indian-people—and knock the United States.

New Age, organ of the pro-Moscow party, recently devoted its front page to two articles, making these charges:

—The United States is doling out food grains on a monthly basis under the "Food for Peace" program as a part of an effort to blackmail India into greater dependence on "imperialist powers" and Shastri would be submitting to this if he visited Washington.

—Washington is anti-India and is trying to pressure India into a disadvantageous settlement of the quarrel with Pakistan over ownership of Kashmir.

'Running to kowtow before the Texas dollar king will only help to weaken India further," the newspaper said. "It will lose us the respect and support of the socialists and anti-imperialist world."

Liberian Tanker Explosion Injures 3, One Fatally

Bayonne, N. J. (AP)—Three Honduran seamen were injured, one fatally, Thursday when two explosions and fire damaged a Liberian tanker tied up at a pier here.

The blasts lifted the bow of the ship and blew a hole in it.

One crewman, Emerson Bodden, died at Bayonne Hospital. Two others, Willie Bodden and Amelio Manzanero, were listed in fair condition.

The fuel tanks of the ship, identified as the Joan, a 194-foot coastal tanker, were being cleaned when the explosion occurred. The Coast Guard said the hole was above the water line and the ship was in no danger of sinking.

The fire was brought under control by Coast Guard boats and fire boats from New York harbor.

Local Policeman Has Broken Ribs In Car Accident

Officer Robert Jatczak of the Lincoln police department suffered several broken ribs Thursday afternoon in an automobile accident involving a police cruiser at 60th and R, police said.

The accident occurred, police said, when a car driven by Lloyd K. Jackson, 43, of 717 Eldon Drive was in collision with a car driven by Jatczak.

Youths Discover Box Of Radium

Chicago (AP)—Two boys playing in an alley found a box of radium that was in the luggage compartment of a stolen automobile.

They told police a man tossed the box from his car and sped away.

The recovery accounted for all the radium stored in the car of Charles Harpster, 45, of suburban Evanston. The rest was in the car when police recovered it.

Harpster is a technicion for the Radium Service Co. of America in suburban Kenilworth. The radioactive element is used in the treatment of cancer.

Rancher Gets Big Bang Out Of Grass Fire

Concord, Calif. (AP) — When rancher Mike Arata sighted three packing cases in the path of his controlled burning of a grassland area, he hurred to stop the flames from reaching the boxes.

Just as he noted the boxes were marked grenades, one grenade exploded.

"I ran like hell," Arata reported Thursday. Unhurt, he jumped in his car and drove to a fire station.

By the time Arata returned with firemen, most of the grenades had detonated.

Nine unexploded grenades were removed by demolition men from the Concord Naval Weapons Station.

Where the weapons came from and why they were dumped in the ditch on Arata's land remained a mystery.

Marcos Far Out In Lead In Philippine Presidential Race

Manila (AP)—Sen Ferdinand E Marcos swept to an all but unbeatable 665,433-vote lead in the Philippine presidential race Thursday and intimates of President Diosdado Macapagal privately conceded his defeat.

The president has not personally conceded although two of Manila's four morning newspapers said his cause is hopeless.

With 5.1 million votes tabulated—of more than 8 million cast—the unofficial Philippine news service tally gave Marcos, 48, standard bearer of the Nacionalista Party, 2,888,748 votes to 2,223,315 for the Liberal Party president. Marcos told a news conference the result could be reversed only by "massive and unthinkable fraud."

Marcos' running mate, Sen. Fernando Lopez, was leading his opponent Sen. Gerardo Roxas by 2,647,978 to 2,570,700.

Marcos also was carrying six of his eight senatorial candidates to evident victory

While the unofficial count gave Marcos a commanding lead, he still had to reckon with the official tabulation of the commission on elections.

If Marcos is elected, he will have a Liberal-dominated 104-member house and at best a precariously balanced 24-seat senate He would need to carry a full senatorial slate of eight senators to insure control

In outlining his foreign policy to the press, Marcos said he would support sending Philippine troops to Viet Nam if he was convinced this was necessary.

He said he also is prepared to normalize relations with Malaysia, which has not been recognized by this country because of a dispute over a Philippine claim to North Borneo.

Marcos said he also would place stress on the nonmilitary role of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) and pledged that the Philippines would play a more active role in Southeast Asia developments

Indian Leftists Drive Against Shastri Visit

New Delhi (AP) — Indian leftists have opened a virulent campaign against any visit by Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri to Washington for talks with President Johnson

The leftists say a visit would be an indication Shastri is abjectly surrendering to what they say is American pressure for a settlement in the India-Pakistan quarrel.

Many other Indians, however, feel a Shastri-Johnson summit could help clear up serious irritations that have developed in U S -India relations because of past military aid to neighboring Pakistan and a current curtailment of military and economic aid to India

Although Shastri refuses to say whether he will go, betting in government circles is that he will make the trip before year's end.

Inda's pro-Moscow Communists have seized on the issue as an opportunity to enhance the Soviet Union's rapidly improving image among the Indian people—and knock the United States.

New Age, organ of the pro-Moscow party, recently devoted its front page to two articles, making these charges:

—The United States is doling out food grains on a monthly basis under the "Food for Peace" program as a part of an effort to blackmail India into greater dependence on "imperialist powers" and Shastri would be submitting to this if he visited Washington.

—Washington is anti-India and is trying to pressure India into a disadvantageous settlement of the quarrel with Pakistan over ownership of Kashmir.

'Running to kowtow before the Texas dollar king will only help to weaken India further," the newspaper said. "It will lose us the respect and support of the socialists and anti-imperialist world."

Liberian Tanker Explosion Injures 3, One Fatally

Bayonne, N. J. (AP)—Three Honduran seamen were injured, one fatally, Thursday when two explosions and fire damaged a Liberian tanker tied up at a pier here.

The blasts lifted the bow of the ship and blew a hole in it.

One crewman, Emerson Bodden, died at Bayonne Hospital. Two others, Willie Bodden and Amelio Manzanero, were listed in fair condition.

The fuel tanks of the ship, identified as the Joan, a 194-foot coastal tanker, were being cleaned when the explosion occurred The Coast Guard said the hole was above the water line and the ship was in no danger of sinking

The fire was brought under control by Coast Guard boats and fire boats from New York harbor

Youths Discover Box Of Radium

Chicago (AP)—Two boys playing in an alley found a box of radium that was in the luggage compartment of a stolen automobile

They told police a man tossed the box from his car and sped away

The recovery accounted for all the radium stored in the car of Charles Harpster, 4., of suburban Evanston The rest was in the car when police recovered it

Harpster is a technician for the Radium Service Co of America in suburban Kenilworth. The radioactive element is used in the treatment of cancer.

Rancher Gets Big Bang Out Of Grass Fire

Concord, Calif (AP) - When rancher Mike Arata sighted three packing cases in the path of his controlled burning of a grassland area, he hurred to stop the flames from reaching the boxes.

Just as he noted the boxes were marked grenades, one grenade exploded.

"I ran like hell," Arata reported Thursday. Unhurt, he jumped in his car and drove to a fire station

By the time Arata returned with firemen, most of the grenades had detonated

Nine unexploded grenades were removed by demolition men from the Concord Naval Weapons Station

Where the weapons came from and why they were dumped in the ditch on Arata's land remained a mystery.

Stock Market Erases Loss, Ends Higher

New York (AP) — The stock market reversed an early decline Thursday and ended with a net gain, its first in four sessions.

Trading was dull due to semi-holiday conditions prevailing in observance of Veterans' Day. Volume was 5.44 million shares compared with 5.01 million Wednesday when the session was cut down by a delay due to the Northeast power failure.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which was down as much as 2.00 in the first hour, ended with a net gain of 2.06 at 953.28.

Aluminums were down sharply in early trading as they reacted to news that Alcoa and other major producers said they would rescind their price increases on aluminum ingots. As the session continued, however, Wall Street—which was depressed by this news-began to feel more optimistic because of published reports that the administration is delaying steps to offer 100,000 tons of stockpiled aluminum for immediate sale, pending further talks with industry representatives. This tended to soften the impact of the aluminum situation.

Rhodesia's Declaration of Independence was another factor which cast an air of uncertainty over the Street. Despite both of these news factors, offerings were so slight that the market was able to take care of them handily and prices began a gradual improvement, cutting down losses until late in the afternoon when the averages emerged on the upside.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to 353.4 with industrials up 1.0, rails off .5 and utilities up .4.

Of 1,354 issues traded, 587 rose and 480 fell. New highs for the year totaled 55 and new lows 29.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index advanced .18 to 92.11.

Symptomatic of the market's recovery was American Telephone, the mostly widely held stock of all, which ened the day as the most active issue, up ¼ at 63¼ on 129,900 shares. In early trading AT&T sank to a new low of 62⅛ for the year but then ran into insistent demand from investors, pacing the entire list to its rebound.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks advanced and two declined.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange rose irregularly on volume of 2.92 million shares compared with 2.51 million Wednesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in light trading. U.S. Treasury bonds were virtually untraded because most dealers were closed for the holiday.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

As a member of C.I.D. you receive a distinctive membership card and pocket-size directory. Your C.I.D. Directory contains the names and locations of all associated C.I.D. member merchants. Under each merchants listing appears his published C.I.D. discount, varying between merchants of from 10% to 33⅓%.

Your membership in C.I.D. automatically entitles you to the published discounts. Merely present your membership card after you make your selections of merchandise. The discount is immediately deducted from the normal purchase price.

Use your C.I.D. card as often as you wish, absolutely no limit. As more and more merchants join C.I.D. you will be sent supplemental lists for your directory. Your membership card is good through November 20, 1966.

Big Stink Made Over Being Shot

Parkersburg, W.Va. (AP)—City policeman Ken Dougherty dispatched the intruder with a rifle and now is kicking himself for making such a stinking mistake.

Dougherty said a skunk invaded his basement through a window. After the animal was shot its odorous presence was wafted throughout the Dougherty home by a forced air furnace.

The Doughertys have been eating out lately.

Stock Market Erases Loss, Ends Higher

New York (AP) — The stock market reversed an early decline Thursday and ended with a net gain, its first in four sessions.

Trading was dull due to semi-holiday conditions prevailing in observance of Veterans' Day. Volume was 5.44 million shares compared with 5.01 million Wednesday when the session was cut down by a delay due to the Northeast power failure.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which was down as much as 2.00 in the first hour, ended with a net gain of 2.06 at 953.28.

Aluminums were down sharply in early trading as they reacted to news that Alcoa and other major producers said they would rescind their price increases on aluminum ingots. As the session continued, however, Wall Street—which was depressed by this news-began to feel more optimistic because of published reports that the administration is delaying steps to offer 100,000 tons of stockpiled aluminum for immediate sale, pending further talks with industry representatives. This tended to soften the impact of the aluminum situation.

Rhodesia's Declaration of Independence was another factor which cast an air of uncertainty over the Street. Despite both of these news factors, offerings were so slight that the market was able to take care of them handily and prices began a gradual improvement, cutting down losses until late in the afternoon when the averages emerged on the upside.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 to 353.4 with industrials up 1.0, rails off .5 and utilities up .4.

Of 1,354 issues traded, 587 rose and 480 fell. New highs for the year totaled 55 and new lows 19.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index advanced .18 to 92.11.

Symptomatic of the market's recovery was American Telephone, the mostly widely held stock of all, which ended the day as the most active issue, up ¼ at 63¾ on 129,900 shares. In early trading AT&T sank to a new low of 62⅝ for the year but then ran into insistent demand from investors, pacing the entire list to its rebound.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks advanced and two declined.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange rose irregularly on volume of 2.92 million shares compared with 2.51 million Wednesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed in light trading. U.S. Treasury bonds were virtually untraded because most dealers were closed for the holiday.

Big Stink Made Over Being Shot

Parkersburg, W.Va. (AP)—City policeman Ken Dougherty dispatched the intruder with a rifle and now is kicking himself for making such a stinking mistake.

Dougherty said a skunk invaded his basement through a window. After the animal was shot its odorous presence was wafted throughout the Dougherty home by a forced air furnace.

The Doughertys have been eating out lately.
